MAYOR WILL ANNOUNCE RENT COMMISSION

The mayor is this week to announce the appointment of a municipal rent commission he stated today. This commission will be appointed in conformity with the recommendation to that effect made by the special committee of city councilors named to cooperate with the assessors. This committee reported to the city council May 31 last. Daniel F. Cosgrove was chairman of the committee and the other members were John J. McPadden and Arthur Genest. The recommendations in part as taken from the committee report filed with the city clerk follow:

"The efforts of your committee are of necessity confined to suggestions that may be effective in restricting at least, if not entirely eliminating, the practice of some landlords in taking unfair and unwarranted advantage of tenants by demanding unconscionable rents and upon refusal to obey ordering the tenants to vacate the premises.

"To alleviate this situation your committee would recommend that the city council request His Honor, the Mayor, to appoint a rent commission, composed of seven responsible citizens, preferably, a commission made up as follows:

"The Chairman of the Board of Assessors;

The Superintendent of Public Building;

The City Engineer;

An Attorney-at-Law;

A Real Estate Dealer;

A representative of the Trades & Labor Council, and a woman of the city should also be represented on the commission.

"The duties of said commission upon appointment would be to organize under the authority of the chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life, by appointing a chairman and secretary, to familiarize themselves with the laws passed in 1920 and amendments thereto having to do with their powers, and to receive complaints. The secretary's duties, in addition to responsibilities as a member of the commission, would be to mail notices to landlord and tenant in case of complaint, requesting them to appear at a time appointed by the commission. The commission would then hear the facts of the controversy in each case, make a finding at once, provided all the facts are in its possession, otherwise as soon thereafter as the commission is in possession of the facts.

"Should the parties to the controversy be unwilling to abide by the decision of the commission an appeal may be taken to the district court."

Hays or someone representing the republican national committee and transfer of funds from the National park bank of New York to the National Metropolitan bank of Washington, as not pertinent. He also made the same decision on the final count which charged Sinclair with refusing to answer any questions.

J. Harry Boardman, Cashier of Old Lowell Bank, Charged With Misappropriation of $70,000

Sensation in Business, Club and Social Circles Follows His Arrest at Home in Clark Road—May 2, 1923 and Other Dates Named in Warrant As Times of Peculations—Waives Examination and is Held in $25,000 Bail for Federal Court—Bank Commissioner Says Institution is Solvent and Financially Solid

J. Harry Boardman, cashier of the Old Lowell National bank, well known citizen, business and club man, has been arrested on a charge of misappropriating, misapplying and converting to his own use moneys, funds and credits of the Old Lowell bank to the value of $70,630.01.

The arrest was made Saturday afternoon at his home, 107 Clark road, under a warrant issued by U. S. Commissioner Richard B. Walsh and served by Deputy U. S. Marshal Frank E. Hart. The complainant was Norwin S. Bean of Boston, chief bank examiner.

Mr. Boardman waived preliminary examination before Commissioner Walsh and is held under $25,000 bail for the federal district court. The amount of bail was furnished by his wife.

With Mr. Boardman's arrest has come his resignation as cashier of the Old Lowell bank and the immediate appointment to the position of Walter W. Cleworth, formerly assistant cashier.

The arrest of the bank cashier came about as direct result of an examination of the books of the bank which has just been completed. In the warrant it is charged that "on May 2, 1923 and divers other times, he did misappropriate, misapply and convert moneys, funds and credits of the bank to the value of $70,630.01 to his own use, with intent to injure and defraud the Old Lowell National bank."

News of Mr. Boardman's arrest in circulation today caused a marked sensation in business, banking and club circles where he had wide acquaintance. Few men in the city are better known than he, due to his position and the social prominence of his family.

In asking for the arrest of Mr. Boardman, Bank Examiner Bean emphatically declared that the Old Lowell bank is perfectly solvent and that the extent of the speculation charged up to the cashier no way mar the bank's credit or its staunchness or reliability. The bank's surplus fund is large enough to care for a loss many times greater than the one involved and in addition heavy bonds give still more security. There is 100 per cent. protection for all depositors and all money on deposit.

U. S. MERMAIDS REACH FINALS

Gertrude Ederle, Helen Wainwright, and Martha Norelius Qualify

Previously Both Men Entered From U. S. Team Had Been Eliminated

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Gertrude Ederle, Helen Wainwright and Martha Norelius, America's peerless mermaids, carried the colors of the United States to the front today by qualifying for the finals of the 400 metre swim, free style, in the Olympic competition. Previously both men entered from the American team in these 1500 metre races had been eliminated—one of them after a gallant fight and the other without even taking the water.

Miss Ederle and Miss Norelius qualified handsily but Miss Wainwright had to put forth her best efforts to defeat Miss D. A. Molesworth of Great Britain in the best time for the distance—6 minutes 19 3/5 seconds—since the opening of the competition.

Miss Ederle and Miss Norelius were not extended at any time, disposing readily of Miss T. T. Tanner of Great Britain and Annie Rasmussen of Denmark.

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press) In the trials of the 1500 metre swim for men, free style, in the Olympic competition held today, the United States failed to qualify for the finals. Adam Smith, Erie, Pa., Y. M. C. A., found the pace set by Arne Borg of Sweden, and Charlton, the Australian, too hot for him in the first semi-finals while the time of Richard Howell, Northwestern university in the first preliminary trials yesterday was so slow he admittedly had no chance.

PRISONERS PAROLED DURING THE YEAR

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, July 14.—Of the fifty-eight men paroled during the last fiscal year from the state prison, not a parole was revoked because of the commission of a crime. Four were revoked for "indiscreet conduct," and one for the commission of a misdemeanor.

From the five institutions under its control, the parole board, of which Frank A. Brooks of Williamburg is chairman, released a total of 2415 persons, of whom only sixteen were returned to prison because of the commission of crime. 12 of these were re-committed to the Massachusetts reformatory, indicating that they were chiefly mischievous boys.

In its report, submitted today to the commissioner of correction, the parole board declares that it has paroled no man sent to prison "for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor or for driving in a manner to endanger the lives and safety of the public."

During the past year the board held 277 meetings, and released 2415 inmates, about 1500 of whom were serving sentences for drunkenness.

One hundred and sixty-seven state prison cases were considered, in which the board granted a parole in 55 cases.

At the Massachusetts reformatory, 414 were paroled, and of this number 50 were revoked, 12 for the commission of crime.

At the reformatory for women, 33 were paroled, and of these 3 were returned for indiscreet action. It is to be noted that not a single woman was returned to prison for the commission of a crime after parole.

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. TYNGSBORO CASES IN THE LOCAL COURT

Six men were arraigned in district court this morning, four for disturbing the peace and two for drunkenness, as the result of arrests made early Sunday morning in Tyngsboro by Chief Joseph Pelletier of the Tyngsboro police and state constabulary officers.

The four arraigned for disturbing the peace were Robert C. Stephenson of North Cambridge, Stephen Stanekunas and Edward J. Bassett of Cambridge, and Thomas Riley of Charlestown. They were arrested at a camp in Willow Dale road Sunday morning at 3.30 o'clock. According to the officers, there was a large number of people in the camp singing and shouting and when the raid was made the four above named took the responsibility of the disturbance upon themselves.

The defendants were represented by Attorney Cornelius O'Neill, who asked Judge Pickman to accept a plea of nolo. The judge refused to accept the plea and one of guilty was entered. After hearing the testimony, the cases were placed on file.

HOUGHTON SAYS HE'S MUCH ABUSED MAN

Henry Houghton of the Navy Yard district, Dracut, was fined on a drunkenness charge in district court this morning, despite his protest that he was not drunk and that one of the complainants should have been arrested for assaulting him rather than he being arrested on any charge.

The arrest was made Saturday by Dracut officers on complaint of Houghton's neighbors, who claimed he was drunk and was bothering them. Officer Thomas of the Dracut force testified the defendant was drunk. A neighbor of Houghton's, a woman, also testified to the same effect.

Houghton, on the witness stand, admitted he had had some "home brew" which he purchased "down the avenue." He further claimed that the woman who appeared against him had assaulted him with a broom and that her husband had hit him in the eye with his fist, and that his neighbors were always amusing him by calling him names.

A delegation represented the employees of the Billerica car shops: James E. McNell, James Mann, Isidore A. Tetrault and Willie Chaput. The bearers were Joseph and Joseph Tessier, Amram Lemire, Romeo Tessier, Willis N. Peltier and Edward Callahan. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at St. Joseph's cemetery where Consul Plamand expressed the gratitude of his country for the faithful services of the deceased in the recent war. The arrangements were in the charge of Undertakers Amedee Archambault & Sons.

ONANIAN—The funeral of Boggor Onanian took place yesterday morning from his home, 342 Lawrence street and was attended by relatives and friends. Services were held at the Armenian Apostolic church, Rev. B. Kazarsian officiating. There were numerous floral offerings. The bearers were A. Simonian, B. Bogosian, A. Markarian, H. Yaghoobian, K. Euryan and I. Grigorian. Burial took place in the Westlawn cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. B. Kazarsian. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

HUNTLEY—Funeral services for Mary W. Huntley were held in the funeral rooms, 14 Loring street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Wallace C. Sampson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, officiating. Mrs. Arthur A. Varney sang appropriate selections. The floral tributes were beautiful. The bearers were Thomas Curley, Jesse Wheeler, Charles Dudley and Earl Stevenson. Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Sampson read the committal prayers. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertaker Hiram C. Brown.

NOTINI—The funeral of Gabriello Gloria Notini, infant daughter of Albert and Rosanna (Lachance) Notini, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, 12 Tarnoy street and was largely attended. The bearers were Masters William Andrew, Albert and Arthur Notini. There were many flowers. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery. The arrangements were in the charge of Undertakers Amedee Archambault & Sons.

SOULIOTIS—The funeral of Albanoulos Souliotis took place yesterday afternoon from the Holy Trinity Greek church, where services were held. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in Westlawn cemetery, under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

The funeral will take place Tuesday morning at 8.15 o'clock from his home, and there will be a funeral high mass at St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. The arrangements are in charge of Funeral Directors James W. McKenna Sons.

FIRE IN BEDROOM
A still alarm at 10.07 this morning, was for a bedroom fire at 787 Alken avenue. Clothing stored in the room and the room itself were partially damaged by fire and water.

GUESS WHO THEY ARE!

Bet you couldn't guess in a year who these folks are? Yet you surely know them—minus their make-up. It is Henry Ford, with the high hat, flowing tie and trick whiskers, up in the driver's seat! And the lady at his left is Mrs. Ford! You will notice, too, they are not riding in a limousine. They are all dolled up this way for a parade in Dearborn, the Detroit suburb, where they live.

OUCH! THAT ARM'S SORE!

Nearly everybody in Pittsburg has a sore arm. A wholesale vaccination, as a preventive against the spread of a smallpox epidemic, is going on. Health authorities have decreed every man, woman and child in the city must be inoculated. More than 150,000 persons already have complied with the order. Here is a group of city employees in line at one of the 20 free clinics.

SHE BUILDS GARAGES

Mrs. Pearl G. Atkinson of Sacramento, Calif., is a portable garage builder with offices at Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco and San Jose. It all came about when she was left eight houses in payment of a debt. She had trouble renting the houses because there were no garages. She bought lumber, hired two men, and sailed in and helped them build garages. They were portable affairs and made such a hit that she started garage building as a business. 'Twas success from the start.

MRS. LLOYD TO RE-ENTER FILMS

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
NEA Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, July 14.—Mildred Davis, wife of Harold Lloyd has done with weeping.

Smilingly admitting that she once believed she could cry beautifully, she wants to shed no more copious tears in picture playing, which she is about to resume.

The advent of Mildred Gloria Lloyd, now a few weeks old, is responsible for the change. And it was during the first joint interview with mother been won over to having his wife re-appear in pictures. And she's as happy about it as an extra securing her first important role.

Mrs. Lloyd will make her new screen debut with a becoming dignity and maturity coupled to her characteristic winsome simplicity, always free of pretence.

Throughout her period of retirement she has kept pace with screen developments by having pictures run daily in the home projection room, a constant incentive, she says, to return to her profession.

And by temperament, Mildred Davis Lloyd, placid, poised, stable, is admirably equipped to make a dual success of motherhood and motion pictures.

FORMER LOCAL PASTOR AT ALL SOULS CHURCH

Rev. Charles T. Billings, for several years pastor of the First Unitarian church of this city, preached yesterday at All Souls church where he was cordially greeted by many members of former congregations. He based his sermon upon the story of Jacob's dream, taking his text from a verse in the 28th chapter of Genesis, and spoke particularly of the spiritual effect of the dream upon Jacob as recorded in the light of powerful imagination.

In speaking of the problems of the present day, Rev. Mr. Billings said if they are to be solved properly it must come about through the efforts of men who are drawing their power, inspiration and imagination from something that is higher than personal gain or race prejudice.

"In these modern days," said the preacher, "if a man comes to us with some experience of somewhat doubtful authenticity we are apt to think it exists only in his imagination. We do well to distinguish between imagination and fancy, for the latter is responsible for the eccentricities of life, but imagination is made of sterner stuff."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Planning a handkerchief to the ground with a stiletto at 10 yards' distance is a feat accomplished by Antonio Moreno, in his role as a romantic Spanish bandit in "The Destroying Angel," a George Melford production at the Merrimack Square theatre the first few days of this week. Danger throwing is a matter of excellent eyesight, says Moreno. He is featured with Estelle Taylor in this Paramount picture, adapted from the Spanish opera "The Wildcat," by Manuel Penella. "Peter the Great," the accompanying film, is also a Paramount production. It is the story of the epic rise of Russia's greatest man—the man who made her a nation, the czar who as a boy toiled in the shipyards as a common laborer and fitted himself to be one of the greatest rulers the world has ever known. The part is played by Emil Jannings and he is supported by the continental beauty, Dagny Servaes. Truly a magnificent combination.

RIALTO

In her adaptation of that exciting love story, "The Destroying Angel," Leah Baird is said to have brought to the screen not only a fascinating cabaret dancer who was kidnapped in her ravishing bathing costume before the eyes of a multitude, but one of the fightingest heroes and two of the meanest villains ever played by Noah Beery and Mitchell Lewis. Aside from the thrills and laughs contributed by the star herself, which she declares is the best role of her screen career, she added another comedy star to the cast in Ford Sterling, who may be depended on to keep any motion picture audience roaring once he starts one of his characteristic comedy scenes. John Bowers is the hero of this Louis Joseph Vance story, and he is just now coming to be one of the screen's most popular fighting love makers. He figures in the secret marriage, faces death in the wild motorboat chase after the villains on Long Island sound, and never fails to recognize the mysterious missing bride when he finds her. This affords Miss Baird, as the mystery girl, her long awaited chance to play comedy. Her teasing and playful vamping of the love-blind hero are said to keep the laughs popping through the screen like the rattle of rapid-fire machine guns. It has every right to be called an all-star cast for all the leading players have been started at some time. "The Destroying Angel" will be the offering on the screen at the Rialto theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

BROADWAY CLUB PLANS OUTING

A meeting of the Broadway Athletic and Social club was held in the clubhouse on Fletcher street yesterday noon. President William Walsh presiding. Plans for an outing of the club were discussed and the following committee appointed to take charge of the affair: Timothy O'Sullivan, Daniel Copley, Eugene Fitzgerald, Daniel Riley, Peter Brady and Cornelius Lynch. Over a hundred members attended the meeting.

LOWELL PASTOR SCORES THE KU KLUX KLAN

Rev. Wallace C. Sampson, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, scored the Ku Klux Klan in his sermon yesterday. "The Ku Klux Klan, although it sets itself up as the champion of Protestantism, will not get very far unless its members owe their allegiance to God instead of Imperial wizards," he said. "If you think justice is not being administered fairly in the courts of this country, or if you think the freedom of our school system, the freedom of the press and our traditional freedom of speech is being hindered by political ambitions of any religious organization, don't hide behind a nightdress and try and take the law in your own hands."

Citing the fact that opposition to the Catholic church has been the selling point of the Klan in the north, the pastor said:

"I personally respect Catholics greatly. For one thing, on such a day as this, you will find every one of them at Mass, even if they have to walk miles, while we Protestants stay away from church for so many reasons that one sometimes wonders for what reason we go at all. If we would work with our hearts and souls for the cause of the church, and support it, we would be doing something much better than joining all sorts of orders which start from the wrong angle. We may learn many lessons from our Catholic friends, the greatest of which is loyalty. There are, no doubt, extremes to which this virtue can be carried, but the Ku Klux Klan, although it sets itself up as the champlion of Protestantism, will not get very far unless its members owe their allegiance to God instead of Imperial wizards. Of course, many will say that the Knights of Columbus of the Catholic church are working heart and soul for the Catholic church and its interests, but if we do not condone that method, why get behind a shoot?

"If we love the American democracy that we have, let us fight for its liberty and its benefits in the open. Let us treat the members of other religions with tolerance, for we owe them a debt that we can never pay, and let us gain our ends by the way that was recommended in the 13th chapter of First Corinthians. 'But the greatest of these is love.' Let us love our friends of all races and all creeds, and if their way departs from our free ideals let us not by secret orders, but by open direct methods, seek to educate them to our standard of conduct."

70-YEAR-OLD NEW YORK WATCHMAN MURDERED

NEW YORK, July 14.—Mendel Flerstein, a 70 year old watchman, was murdered early today by burglars, who forced their way into the building in Lower Manhattan where he was employed. The watchman's body was found on the second floor, the hands and feet bound and his empty wallet nearby.

The police believe Flerstein was attacked by the burglars when he attempted to prevent them from blowing open a safe in the building. He had been struck on the head.

MILDRED DAVIS LLOYD

and tiny daughter granted any news writer that Mrs. Lloyd libed at her former inclination toward lachrymose sentimentalism.

"Reviewing some of my old pictures," said the maternal Mildred, "I blush with embarrassment at my tearful vehemence. It was genuine enough, as I thought, very effective at the time. But now I wonder what prompted my tears. How silly they seem in retrospect."

"No girl knows the richness of life until she's a mother. If ever I had real tears to shed from awe, a deep sense of responsibility and the cares that go with the happiness of maternity, I should shed them now. But I only want to smile—to smile here at home and in pictures I intend to resume making in the next few months. The arrival of little Gloria has put me into joyous humor."

Gloria, crowned in pink baskinot, honored the intrusive press and endorsed her mother's tribute by sleeping profoundly throughout the interview.

Instead of terminating her picture career, advanced as Harold Lloyd's leading lady, motherhood has fired Mildred Davis' ambitions anew. She will have her own producing unit under her famous husband's supervision.

Her immediate preparatory problem is reduction of the plumpness which graces her motherhood but which isn't a camera asset. She is going about that slowly and carefully, beginning with tennis, and hopes within a few months to acquire her former slenderness.

Harold Lloyd, somewhat old-fashioned in his domestic ideals, has finally

RADIO CLUB PLANS BIG WORLD ASSOCIATION

By N.E.A. Service

NEW YORK, July 14.—An international radio association may be the means of healing the world's animosities.

This association is being planned and the first steps have already been taken by the American Radio association, national headquarters of which are in this city.

The way toward accomplishment of this world-wide task is seen through the operation of a chain of broadcasting stations owned and operated by member clubs of this organization, through which constant radio communication could be maintained.

"The success the American Radio association has had in bringing local radio clubs and individual listeners together into one national organization shows what can be done along international lines," says Alfred M. Cadden, secretary of the A. R. A.

"The A. R. A. has attracted attention throughout the world. Inquiries have come from England, Mexico and the British West Indies, and negotiations for the information of similar public associations in Australia and New Zealand have just been completed with M. C. Fry, one of Australia's radio pioneers.

"Public associations have already been formed in France, Spain and other countries, and the A. R. A. is making the forward step to form the International Radio association. In this way it is hoped to bring about lasting cordial relations between the many peoples of the earth."

International language societies and radio amateurs of the world are expected to co-operate. Instead of international gatherings at certain points, the proposal is to hold annual conferences by radio through the broadcasting stations under control of the members of the international association. Thus every radio fan will be enabled to participate.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR SUPER-POWER

By N.E.A. Service

DENVER, Colo., July 14.—Another link in a powerful super-power broadcasting chain is being constructed here.

It is the third powerful broadcasting station owned by the General Electric Company and forms a connecting link between station KGO at Oakland, Cal., and WGY at Schenectady, N. Y.

According to officials of the company here, provision is made in the equipment to go to higher power than is now permitted, should the regulations of the department of commerce be changed.

The station will have two studios working together, so that while transmission is going on from one, rehearsals and other preparations may be made for the next number in the other studio. The result will be no waiting between numbers.

Twenty-kilowatt, water-cooled power tubes will furnish the power for broadcasting, while eleven motor generator sets will furnish the current for filament lighting, plate current amplifier tube plates, generator field excitation and grid bias potentials. The tubes will take a 15,000-volt plate supply.

Anyone who listened in on the republican and democratic conventions knows Graham McNamee, one of the most popular announcers of America. He's official voice for WEAF, New York. Besides reporting the conventions by radio, McNamee is noted for his work at the world series baseball games and at boxing bouts. Besides he can sing! He's a baritone. And he can tickle the ivories.

TO COVER THE WORLD
International radio concerts are being prepared by Station KDKA, Pittsburgh. An evening will be devoted to each nation and the concert will be broadcast in that nation's language, beside English.

ON FLANDERS FARMS
Farmers in Belgium are being more and more equipped with radio receiving sets, reports an observer. In cities, half the houses have sets. Only about half pay the state tax of 20 francs for each installation.

SPOTTING BY RADIO
Radio spotting by army airplanes proved such a success at recent artillery practice in the Philippines that closer co-operation by this means is planned between artillery and aviation officers. Not a single radio failure was reported.

RADIO WORLD'S FAIR IN SEPTEMBER

The First Radio World's Fair to be held in Madison Square Garden and the 69th Regiment Armory, New York city, Sept. 22nd to 28th, is attracting the serious attention of the radio geniuses of the world and scores of them are preparing to introduce their latest inventions at the coming exposition.

Half a dozen recognized wireless engineers are now busily engaged trying to perfect systems for radiating pictures and Messrs. Hermann and Kerr have high hopes of being able to broadcast the world's first program of "Radio Motion Pictures" on the opening night of the exposition.

Sixty nationally known manufacturers of the United States will have de luxe exhibits at the fair and England, France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland and Austria will have proper representation in the "Foreign Section." Exhibition booths of elaborate construction will fill both big buildings to which there will be but one admission charge.

The International Amateur Builders' contest is assuming such huge proportions that the show management expects this feature alone to fill the entire basement of Madison Square Garden. Blanks for this competition are being distributed by radio dealers here and abroad and entries are already coming in from all parts of the world. Twenty-five prizes will be awarded in this interesting contest and entry blanks with full particulars will be supplied to all who write direct to General Manager James F. Kerr, Hotel Prince George, New York city.

WATCH FOR "BEATS"

If you hear a constant pitch whistle while receiving, some broadcasting station, generally nearby, is not transmitting on its assigned wavelength. This whistle or "beat" is produced by the carrier waves of two broadcasting stations. Waves are assigned far enough apart to avoid this.

200 MILES ON CRYSTAL

Crystal set users in England may be able to hear the new high-power station at Chelmsford up to 200 miles away, say officials of the British Broadcasting company. The new station will try to reach across the ocean, operating on 1000 meters with a power of 25 kilowatts.

THE THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT

There is much speculation as to whether the independent candidacy of Senator La Follette for the presidency as leader of a third party, will draw more from the republican than from the democratic party. Some allege that La Follette by his shrewd political methods will be able to make radical inroads to the democratic party; but this is hardly logical inasmuch as he primarily bolted the republican party as an insurgent because the Cleveland convention rejected the planks which he wanted inserted in the platform. He and his following have been largely republican in the past; but it is reasonable to suppose that in the coming campaign, he will make a general appeal to every disaffected element in both parties. We do not believe, however, that he will be able to cut into the democratic party to the extent expected and hoped for by some republican leaders. There is no question as to La Follette's power to control Wisconsin and some other states in that region but it should be remembered that the states in which he is strongest have usually stood in the republican column in national elections.

It was in 1912 that the Roosevelt bolt split the republican party, resulting in its defeat and very general demoralization. In 1896 the independent movement headed by Palmer and Buckner was directed against the democratic party which then adopted a free silver platform with William Jennings Bryan as the presidential nominee. In both cases the independent movement defeated the party against which it was launched; and there is no reason to believe that in the present case the La Follette movement will have any different result. Its chief force will be directed against the republican record of the past four years, the failures, the scandals and the general incompetence shown during that period.

The industrial depression from which the country has suffered will offer the strongest argument against the election of the republican ticket. Furthermore, once the democratic standard bearers have formulated their campaign plans, they will doubtless bring about a solidarity of party action that will not only hold the general support of all true democrats but also attract votes in large numbers from the republican party. Not only will this be true for the head of the ticket but for the candidates seeking election to either branch of congress. Mr. Davis, we expect, will make a rattling campaign that will result in a sweeping democratic victory.

THE PHILIPPINES

The attitude of congress toward the Philippine question is causing embarrassment to General Leonard Wood, the governor-general of our island possessions in the far Pacific, as was to be expected. He has repeatedly expressed his opposition to all proposals for independence at the present time, or in the near future. He has also warned the American people that the Philippines are, from the viewpoints of political and governmental experience, financial resources and national defense, yet unfitted to assume the burdens of sovereignty. President Coolidge has, of course, endorsed the views of General Wood in toto.

There is little question that the recent publication of the majority and minority reports of the congressional insular affairs committee on the Fairchild bill, has perceptibly injured American prestige and weakened the United States' foothold in that part of the Far East. With the acquisition of power, the Filipino leaders have gained a strategic advantage from which it would be exceedingly difficult to dislodge them.

The American representatives in the Philippines are charged with a maximum of responsibility and a minimum of power. The Filipino leaders have acquired a maximum of power with but a modicum of actual responsibility. A situation such as this, obviously loaded with menacing possibilities, cannot continue very long.

If the Fairchild bill fails to go through the next session of congress, it is a foregone conclusion that the separatist leaders will carry on their campaign for independence with redoubled vigor. And the governor-general, lacking the support and sympathy of congress, will find himself between the devil and the deep sea, to put it frankly.

SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAYS

Registrar Goodwin makes a strong protest against an apparent case of neglect by a Roxbury court in refusing to modify his office of the conviction of an auto operator for driving while under the influence of liquor. Mr. Goodwin is endeavoring to enforce the law quite vigorously, and he should have general co-operation in handling intemperate drivers from the highways. Unless this menace to public safety be remedied, the accidents, fatal and otherwise, on the highways will continue, and conditions will become worse instead of better.

At present the law is not sufficiently severe in dealing with the drivers who are found intoxicated in charge of motor vehicles on the highways. Nothing but jail sentences will have the necessary effect. The fines have been tried and found ineffective. The number of killings in auto accidents is quite alarming. Rigorous measures must be adopted to make the highways safe for the public.

Justice House in a New York court says a drunken man at the wheel of a moving auto is worse than a maniac with a gun in a crowded thoroughfare. It requires no argument to prove the truth of that statement.

MEADDOO FOR DAVIS

Mr. Meadood before starting for Europe gave out a brief statement in which he declared that after his European vacation, he would join the other democratic leaders in support of the party ticket. Undoubtedly he was more disappointed than any other candidate in the running. This, of course, might be expected from the fact that he was the leader in the convention for a whole week and that on several occasions he came very near securing a majority vote. So complete and widespread was the organization he had built up previous to the convention, that he was justified in assuming he could secure the nomination. Indeed he must have felt that his nomination was a foregone conclusion, but the clamor behind him resulted in his undoing, and he cannot justly blame the convention for the result. There never was a more spontaneous contest, nor a more harmonious result than the final nomination of John W. Davis. For that reason no democrat can justly complain of the nomination. The fact that Meadood will work for the success of the ticket will help to hold his supporters in line and even induce them to work for party success.

SUMMER PLAYGROUNDS

The city is now conducting a number of public playgrounds at very considerable expense for the benefit of the children of the city. It is to be hoped that all the children will take advantage of the instruction and amusement supplied by the various activities conducted on these playgrounds. If only the discipline be considered, the children will benefit very much by attending the playground exercises. They are drawn from the dangers of the streets, but at the same time, they are benefited by healthy exercise in the open air while many are also interested in various lines of instruction in manual handicrafts or in domestic science.

There is no strict rule governing playground activities inasmuch as everything undertaken is conducted largely on the principle that it is for the amusement and entertainment of the children. But even in that way, much valuable instruction can be imparted, and it has been found that the work of the playgrounds is a very material aid to the children in their school studies. It should be said, however, that the school department provides the teachers for manual training and domestic science so far as these are conducted in connection with the playgrounds.

REPARATION SETTLEMENT

It is gratifying to find that the premier of France and England seem inclined to accept the judgment of an American official wherever they differ on vital points regarding the Davaos plan of settling the reparation question with Germany. It is to be hoped that this problem will be solved as soon as possible, inasmuch as it has been the menace of European peace and the great obstacle to the resumption of industrial activity in many of the countries of Europe. So damaging has been the effect of this reparation controversy that it has been felt here as well as in Europe in reducing to a very great extent the demand for our manufactured products.

It is proposed to make a fund of $1,000,000 for a Walter Hines Page school of international relations in connection with Johns Hopkins university. The question may be asked where or when will such appeals terminate. Such a school might prove valuable if it remained true to American principles but of that there is no guarantee.

According to Connie Cronin, chairman of the democratic city committee, he will keep the Davis banner flying until the polls close in November. Let the good work go on.

Most people are trying to find out just what manner of man is this Governor Bryan of Nebraska. It is in his favor that he is not a professional politician.

The fall is expected to bring better business. The prospect of a democratic victory in November will help to restore confidence and a general forward movement in industry.

The farmers must be assured that their interests will be served by the election of the democratic party to power.

As Davis was nominated by the whole democratic convention he will be supported by a united party.

Building operations are moving to a high mark this season.

SEEN AND HEARD

An ideal husband is the man every wife could have married but didn't.

Women will not be men's equals until you can slap one on the back and borrow a dollar.

A girl who thinks a man comes to hear her instead of to see her is liable to do an old maid.

A Thought

The reproach of a friend should be strictly just, but not too frequent.—Buddell.

Plenty of Time

The new hired man had been the most difficult to awaken in all Farmer Haytoss's long experience with that ilk, but he had been at last routed out of bed and was sitting a state of semi-solennity at the breakfast table. Just to make conversation, his host and employer remarked: "I thought it was going to rain last night." "Well," yawned the assistant, "I reckon it might before mornin'."—Inklings.

Good Advice

President De Forest of the Metropolitan Art Museum discussed, at a dinner in New York, the art fakes and scandals which are now exciting Paris. "Only little dealers take," he said. "In art as in everything else, honesty alone succeeds. It was good advice, after all, that the customer gave the baker. 'How much bread do you sell a day?' the customer asked. 'Some 400 pounds on the average,' said the baker. 'I can tell you,' said the customer, 'how to sell 500 pounds.' 'Can you?' said the baker eagerly. 'What's the idea?' 'Give full weight,' said the customer.—New York Mail.

Angel Needed

An old colored preacher owned a mule which had an efficient pair of heels and a loud but unmusical voice. One Sunday morning, while the preacher was earnestly exhorting, the mule persisted in putting his head in at the window and baying loudly. The preacher finally said, "Brother and sisters, is there one among you who knows how to keep that mule quiet?" "Fahem," replied a man, "if you all will joss tie a stone to dat mule's tail he sho will keep quiet." "Brother and sisters," responded the preacher, "let him who is without sin tie de fust stone."—Judge.

Explaining the Marks

"I want to get off at Podunk," said the cash-fare and slightly soiled passenger. "Sorry," said the conductor, "but this train doesn't stop at Podunk." "But it does! I read it in the time card," said the passenger, getting wrathful. "Let me see the time card where it says so," said the conductor patiently. "Here it says so—'with that little letter a beside it.' 'That's a conditional stop,' explained the conductor. 'What condition?' 'Well, it means,' said the conductor coldly and finally, 'that when a chap is in your condition it won't stop to let him off, badly as the conductor hates to carry him any further. And that 'a' stands for 'always.'—Life.

Periods in a Man's Life

The 20's are the molding years of life, when the young man forms those habits that shall direct his career. Then he finishes his school work, stands before the altar, establishes a home and looks the world in the eye. The 30's are years of discouragement. It is a hard and trying time for all. It is a time of battle without the poetry and dream of youth. The 40's are the years of vision, when a man finds himself, finishes his castles in the air and knows the value of his dreams. Life comes to its ripening in the 50's. These should be the years of jubilee and he should do his best work then. At 60, a man has committed enough mistakes to make him wise far above his juniors. He should live better and do better work than in any decade of his life. No man has a right to retire in the 60's; the world has need of his wisdom. Some of the best work in the world is done in the 70's. No man has a right to retire at any age unless he wishes to die. A word of congratulation to those who have reached 70 and beyond: You have almost finished your course; we trust that you have fought a good fight and that there is laid up for you a crown of righteousness.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Nothing in connection with the public playgrounds is more refreshing than to see the youngsters learning to swim in the pond on the South common. On hot days they get into the water like a school of fishes, all wiggling and wabbling in an effort to swim. It is remarkable, however, that many of them have already learned the art of swimming so that they can strike out and swim across the pond without the slightest difficulty. If every adult could do as well in the water, we should not have nearly so many drownings.

Work at the nutritional clinic under the supervision of Miss Natalie Marshall of the tuberculosis council, is progressing rapidly through the summer months. These clinics now being held in the basement of the new high school with entrance on Anne street, are well attended and much is being done in the promotion of child health and welfare by the interested workers. Miss Marshall, who is the chief visiting staff is in attendance daily and each child is weighed and an account kept of the progress made in each case. Following the daily examination and instruction, the children are taught proper food laws and the older children are instructed in the cooking of nourishing foods. The picnic held on the high school grounds, was a pronounced success and Miss Marshall hopes to hold several outdoor entertainments of a similar kind for the youngsters.

Through the burning sunshine, congenial, smiling "Dan" stands at the junction of Merrimack and Central streets, directing autoists and pedestrians. There is hardly need of mentioning his last name—for there is not a Lovellite who has not been at some time or another cheered by the welcoming smile of the traffic officer stationed at Lowell's busiest corner. "Dan" lives up to the saying that "a smile will go a long, long way," and though his eyes are sometimes gray there is always a gleam of sunshine at Central and Merrimack streets when "Dan" Brennan "directs."

Amusing to onlookers and undoubtedly provoking to dramatic effects are the daily encounters between 4:30 and 6:00 o'clock about the square. Despite the signs mentioning the fact that the square is closed to traffic, regardless of the pointing hand of the officer in charge, autoists insist on going through the restricted area. Recently a machine bearing a Maryland license plate and driven by a comely young lady, attempted to pass the "detour" sign. The driver succeeded in getting within the boundary, but much to her disgust and after a series of gesticulations and some saucy back talk, she was politely told to turn to the right and proceed up Paige street.

Hundreds of Lowell people heard with great joy that Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan will remain among us in Greater Lowell as a result of his formal designation as pastor of St. Mary's, Collinsville. Born a Lawrence man, Fr. Heffernan doubtless has more personal friends and acquaintances in this city than in his home city, and inasmuch as his priestly life for upwards of 25 years has been spent here, it is fitting to deem that when a promotion should come it should find him still within the borders of Greater Lowell.

Speaking of Fr. Heffernan, I delight to recall the beautifully eloquent prayer he pronounced on the occasion of the first memorial service in honor of ex-President Wilson last winter, in the Memorial Auditorium. It was inspiringly delivered, a gem of rhetoric and a prayer which compressed in its few sentences an estimate of the character of the late president. Bliss Perry, orator of the day, said his oration was superfluous in the light of Fr. Heffernan's eloquent prayer. Hence it is that Fr. Heffernan's personality will be a tower of strength to the religious and civic life of Greater Lowell and the latter citizens, regardless of creed, will find him a high minded, patriotic citizen; a lover of all things that make for righteousness and honesty in public and private life.

Despite Chief Atkinson's assertion that he has no money in the police appropriation to purchase khaki uniforms for the traffic officers, several of the officers who were on duty Saturday said it was unbearably hot and that something should be done to provide them with a lighter uniform. It is doubtful if anything can be done in time, it may be possible to arrange for new uniforms for the traffic officers for next summer.

It is doubtful if there is any one occasion in the year where the Rotary club proves its worth more than at the annual outing given to the orphans of the city. Year after year thousands of children make their homes in the city orphanages are treated to a picnic "at for kings" by the Rotarians, and it is certain when they grow up they will not forget the men who provided them so much enjoyment. Paul Read, agent of the Massachusetts mills, is chairman of the transportation committee, and on his hands rests the responsibility of getting the tots to and from the outing grounds safely. In this work he deserves the assistance of everyone.

MELROSE MAN DROWNED AT FORGE VILLAGE

Joseph P. Lucey, 25, of Melrose, was drowned Sunday morning in Mattawakee pond, Forge Village, and Ell Melanson, also of Melrose, narrowly escaped death when he made an attempt to rescue his chum. Lucey's body was found later in the day and was taken to his home.

Lucey was one of a party of campers who had just begun a vacation at a cottage on the shore of the pond. With three other friends he went out in a rowboat early yesterday morning and fell into the water while attempting to reach an oar which lay several feet from where he was sitting. Melanson was so exhausted that it took several minutes to revive him after reaching the shore.

Face Disfigured With Itchy Eczema Cuticura Heals

"Eczema broke out all over my face, arms, hands and back in pimples and blisters. It itched and burned causing me to scratch and irritate the affected parts, and my face was awfully disfigured. I could not do my cooking because the breaking out burned when I went near the stove. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my body, and I had my rest at night because of the irritation."

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days I could see an improvement. I continued the treatment and in three weeks I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Elizabeth Cloutier, 180 Newman Ave., Attleboro, Mass., Apr. 3, 1924.

DIAPHENIA

Diaphenia like the daffodowndilly,
White as the sun, fair as the lily,
Heigh ho, how I do love thee!
I do love thee as my lambs
Are beloved of their dams;
How blest were I if thou wouldst prove me

Diaphenia like the spreading roses,
That in thy sweets all sweets encloses,
Fair sweet, how I do love thee!
I do love thee as each flower,
Loves the sun's life-giving power;
For dead, thy breath to life might move me

Diaphenia like to all things blessed
When all the praises are expressed,
Dear joy, how I do love thee!
As the birds do love the spring,
Or the bees their careful king;
Then in requite, sweet virgin, love me!

—Henry Constable.

Tinkering Around

When from work you're away and you plan for a day just to loaf around home, it is true, that your plans run amuck and you always get stuck for the wife finds you plenty to do.

The icebox is tainted; the screens must be painted; you humbly get down on our knees and fix up the chest while in old clothes you're dressed; then you get out the paint, if you please.

It isn't a joke that the babe's bed is broke; a couple of slats fallen through. With a hammer and nail to the job you must sail, for the fixing it up's up to you.

The porch must be scrubbed and the window panes rubbed and the furniture's needing a shine. You work right along, righting things that are wrong, if your lot is the same as is mine.

Yes, you'll sure be outgassed on the day that you're rest, for the married men always have found that the Missus gets dizzy at keeping them busy; just workin' and tinkering 'round.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR "GRADE A MILK"

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 14—New regulations governing the preparation and marketing of "Grade A milk" have been prepared by the state department of health, under an act of the recent legislature which is to become operative July 28, and are to be published by the department today for the purpose of obtaining public comment relative thereto.

The draft published today is announced to be tentative and subject to revision if improvements are pointed out by those interested in the question.

Criticism of the new regulations, the department announces, should be sent to its office at the state house, or to any of the members of its food and drug committee, which comprises Warren C. Jewett of Worcester, Dr. Sylvester Ryan of Springfield, and Dr. Francis J. Lally of Milford.

Chief among the changes made in the proposed regulations are requirements that grade A milk shall contain not less than four per cent of butter fat, which is ten per cent more than is found in the average market milk; and that every bottle of pasteurized grade A milk shall be covered with a special cap, stamped to indicate the day of the week on which it was pasteurized.

Read This Over—Think It Over!

This season is the very best time for painting. In warm weather the paint dries quickly, both inside and outside; there are long hours of light in which to work and free circulation of air to prevent fumes.

1 Porch floors, steps, garden pergolas, awnings, screens, arbors and flower trellises are among the round-the-house things which can be painted NOW to good advantage.

2 You don't have to get a building permit. Just go to Coburn's, tell the Coburn clerk what you want to paint, and he will tell you how to do it and what paints to buy.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A manslaughter charge against John S. Wright of this city, in connection with the death of Daniel Hartley, also of this city, as the result of an automobile accident, June 5th, was dismissed by Judge Pickman in district court as the latest report, filed today, absolves him of criminal negligence in this case.

The accident resulting in the death of Hartley occurred on the Boston road in North Billerica on the evening of June 5. Hartley was a passenger in a machine operated by Mr. Wright and was killed when Wright drove his machine off the road into a telegraph pole to avoid striking two bicyclists who were riding on the road without any lights. Hartley was thrown against the pole by the impact and died shortly after the accident.

HAY CROP BELOW AVERAGE IN N. E.

WAKEFIELD, July 14.—The hay crop is below the average in all parts of New England, says a bulletin issued by the New England crop reporting service today. The average condition in New England on July 1 was 30 per cent, as compared with 85.1 last year and the average of 87.6 per cent. In southern New England, the crop is up to that of last year, but the June drought made it very short in northern New England.

Corn planted on a slightly increased acreage in New England is very backward and in need of rain and hot weather. Oats and other small grains as a rule are indicating crops close to the average.

Reports from New England farmers shows a 6.5 per cent increase in potato acreage over last year. Maine, the chief source, has 130,000 acres planted as compared with 124,000 last year. The July 1 condition was slightly above the average.

The local steamship agencies report that there has been a decided falling off of applications for steamship reservations by Lowell people. Not long ago any of the leading agencies could report from twenty to thirty reservations while this week there are but three. The following Lowell people sailed from Boston last evening on the S. S. Washington. Mr. Antonio Palazo of 335 Lawrence street, left for the Madeira Islands. Mr. Palazo will return to Lowell late in the fall with his children. His wife died in the Madeira Islands a few weeks ago leaving the children alone. Mr. Antonio Lima, his wife and child of 150 Charles street, sailed for Lisbon. Mr. Lima is making the trip on business. Joaquim Constantino, 150 Charles street, left for Lisbon on a pleasure trip. He will return to Lowell.

noon, and although a heavy shower occurred, lasting more than an hour, the parade was not held up. Spectators for the most part received a severe drenching, but few fled for shelter, taking it good naturedly as a rule. The first military duty of the day was formation for church in the morning. The Catholic services were held in Liberty theatre, as usual, and the Protestant services in the camp gymnasium. Chaplain Farrell led the Catholic services and Chaplain Elz the Protestant exercises for the soldiers of the 182nd infantry, including Companies C and D of Lowell.

The Lowell contingents entertained home visitors during the day and evening. Company mess sergeants outdid themselves to do the banquet honors, and real meals were served to the Sunday visitors instead of the usual "chow."

Preparations are going rapidly forward for the presentation of the show, "In Bom Bom Land," to be given by members of the 182nd infantry. Fifteen girls from Boston, some professional dancers, will assist.

Company D members starting at the targets in revolver firing competitions last week, and whose scores are regarded as excellent, included Jones and Angove, who lead the list, Jones at 15 yards, slow-fire, scored 45, 47, 50, 49 and 49. Angove's points at the same distance and firing, were 45, 47, 44 and 46. Jones made 46, 49 and 47 at 25 yards; Angove got a 42, 46 and 46. In the rapid fire contest, 15 yards, Jones' scores were 42, 45 and 48; Angove's 47, 45 and 48. The rapid-fire record by Jones was 45, 46 and 47 with Angove a close second with 47, 46 and 46. This contest was for a Company D silver cup. Jones capturing the prize.

A divisional mobilization text in preparation for the coming national mobilization of all regular army, national guard and reserve units of the armed forces of the country, Sept. 12, featured the close of the first week's training of the 26th division.

The 121 national guardsmen from the Spaulding City skinned their pay-rolls Saturday afternoon, but no money will be forthcoming for several days. The 182nd infantry horses used by the officers this season are the greenest ever. They repeated their rodeo tactics Saturday in the division parade, and also in the brigade review Sunday. Several bolted across the field for a mile or more, frightened many spectators who ran for safety.

Hawkers and peddlers, arriving in round numbers Saturday and yesterday, and camp visitors were rounded up and driven out of the campground.

The national guardsmen now in camp, entered their second week of military training this morning. The encampment winds up next Saturday morning, when the Lowell boys, bag and baggage, will start for home. They will leave Camp Devens in a special train also containing Lawrence and Haverhill troops, and should reach Middlesex street railroad station about noon. The members of Companies C and D will parade in field service outfits through the down-town streets before returning to the Westford street armory for dismissal.

This morning, platoon drills on the military maneuver program for the members of Companies C and D. There was instruction also in combat principles, with examples of advance firing and "covering." Another regimental parade is scheduled for the late afternoon. On Wednesday, there will be physical drills and then automatic rifle firing, with practice on outpost duty and general field inspections following.

4500 DELEGATES ATTEND

Prince of Wales Gives Royal Welcome to Delegates of Advertising Convention

LONDON, July 14.—(By the Associated Press).—A royal welcome today was given to the 4500 delegates of the International Advertising convention by the Prince of Wales when he opened the official sessions of the convention at Wembley.

In anticipation of the prince's arrival, America's 2000 delegates were present long before the meeting was scheduled to begin. When the British prince appeared wearing a tuxedo, a convention button on the lapel of his coat, the American delegates broke into enthusiastic cheering, stamped the platform and kept up the ovation for ten minutes. Then the prince delivered a short address declaring the convention open.

The large conference hall at Wembley was filled to capacity and more than capacity early in the forenoon. The Prince of Wales with his usual boyish manner which so captivates his American audiences had a hard time starting his address, so insistent were the cheers which greeted him. Eventually he discarded his prepared paper to tell the delegates that he had always believed in advertising and in fact that he had done much of it himself. Then he said:

"I think it is the very name of the convention which suggests international interest in the subject. When I see so many people in this hall from every part of the earth, I am convinced this aim from all over to give and receive information and advice from each other regarding commercialism which is the greatest problem we have to face today."

LYNN MAN ARRAIGNED IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Frank C. Blodgett of Lynn, driver of an automobile which figured in an accident Saturday morning in Billerica which resulted in his two companions, also of Lynn, receiving injuries, were arraigned on charges of drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor in district court this morning.

Through his attorney, Joseph P. Donahue, Blodgett asked for a continuance to Saturday and he was ordered held in $400 for his appearance on that day.

The accident occurred in Andover street, Billerica, shortly after 7 o'clock Saturday morning. According to Chief Livingston of the Billerica police, who made the arrest, the machine driven by Blodgett crashed into a traffic beacon at the Centre and then proceeded down Andover street. When near the chief's home in Andover street, it turned turtle. George Roberts and Francis Winston, both of Lynn, occupants of the machine, were injured. Roberts was treated at the Lowell General hospital for multiple bruises and was discharged late Saturday afternoon. Winston is at St. John's hospital suffering from a fractured shoulder and two fractured ribs.

Local Review Classes

perintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy was slated at the first start, the most auspicious of the three seasons that the classes have been in vogue.

The students, recommended for the course by the teachers through various school principals, are brushing up on their knowledge of English, arithmetic, algebra, spelling, reading, geography and history.

"Comparatively few cities have summer review classes," said Mr. Molloy this morning. "These classes offer advantages that parents should avail themselves of more generously. Those children who were absent at the morning session this morning will probably be here tomorrow. We shall send letters to their parents advising them of their absence today and urging that they be sent here. Daily absences will be kept on record and parents will be notified by postal of every case."

"It is so much that we can give very extensive instruction during so brief a period, but these classes are desirable as they keep up for a part of the summer at least school contacts for children who need all the assistance that can be given."

Those desirous of reaching the summer classes by telephone may do so by calling 2262.

ink eight civilians. Some of the federal artillery, stationed south of the suburb of Ypiranga, has been bombarding the city. Most of the fighting which has been taking place between here and Sao Paulo is said to have been between small bands of rebels and federal troops. Refugees confirm the report that six hundred federal troops who started last week from Santos to aid in the relief of Sao Paulo were cut to pieces by the insurgents.

Gov. Da Campos, Sao Paulo state president is understood to be here in Santos now under federal protection. He is declared to have said that the people of Sao Paulo wanted him to remain as a leader in the insurrection, but he refused to join the movement, whereupon he was permitted to escape from the city.

The rebel forces defending Sao Paulo against the attack of the federal troops are estimated to number 34,000. This number is said to be increasing daily by recruits arriving from nearby regions. The federalists at present are estimated to number 24,000 either on hand or en route. The continued federal bombardment of Sao Paulo is said to have turned the entire population overwhelmingly to the support of the leaders of the insurrection.

The rebel forces are equipped in all departments including anti-aircraft guns, airplanes and wildcat tanks.

ADVISING THE NEWSPAPERS

Edward T. Clark (left), the president's personal secretary, steps out to tell waiting newspaper men something about the plans for the funeral of Calvin Coolidge, Jr.

BIG INCREASE IN DRUNKEN DRIVERS

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, July 14.—Three times as many persons have already been convicted this year of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor as were convicted in the entire year of 1919. This year's record, up to July 10, was 1,647. In all of 1919, there were but 554.

Attention is called to this remarkable increase in a statement issued today by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, making a review of his activities for the past week and for the year.

"The number of second convictions is also increasing all the time," the registrar points out, "and will continue to increase until the courts follow the requirements of the law and put these persistent offenders in jail."

During the week ending June 10, there were 115 convictions for operating under the influence of liquor, this being two more than in the previous week. All but three of these convictions were in the lower courts, yet only eleven persons, or slightly less than ten per cent of those convicted, were committed to jail. Fourteen others were sentenced to jail, but appealed.

In the superior court, the cases of only three drunken drivers were disposed of. One was sentenced to jail, and two others, appealing from jail sentences imposed by the lower courts, were permitted to pay fines.

Last week the registrar suspended or revoked the licenses of 286, 54 less than in the previous week. Of these 89 were liquor cases; 32, operating recklessly or so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public; six, going away after accidents without disclosing identity; four, operating an automobile without authority of the owner; 55, considered by the registrar to be improper persons to be permitted to operate; 55, operating improperly; six, second conviction of over-speeding; 25, improper equipment; one, third conviction of over-speeding; and 13 miscellaneous.

Thirteen persons, ten adults and three children, were killed in motor vehicle accidents during the week.

DEADLY FIRE OF "BULLET" JOE BUSH FORCED BROWNS TO RETREAT

Preceded by Heavy Artillery Barrage and Supported by Reformed Hurling Corps Yankee Division Moves on to Fourth Pennant Post at Washington

NEW YORK, July 14.—Preceded by a barrage laid down by its heavy artillery and supported by a reformed hurling corps, the Yankee division is advancing irresistibly toward the heights of a fourth American league championship. The invading host from St. Louis withdrew with severe casualties for the second time in two days, under the deadly fire of "Bullet" Joe Bush, who turned them back with five hits on the short end of a 6 to 2 score.

Ruth, though he failed to bring his big Bertha into play, was the leading marksman with three out of four, including a triple.

Intense heat and the strain of dogging the footsteps of the sprinting Yankees evidently affected the nerves of Washington players and fans and an incipient riot almost spoiled an otherwise enjoyable afternoon in the capital.

At the close of the Senators' game with Cleveland, which the home team won 1 to 11, a "hot-up" rioter, incensed at the ejection of Manager Harris from the Washington lineup in the ninth in-

CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Americans and Pawtuckets Meet Tomorrow — Bellevues vs. Butlers Thursday

Two games are on the City Twilight league schedules for this week, with the other three nights given over to the Lowell league. The City league games come on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Marie's Americans, who have taken a new lease of life, will meet the Pawtuckets tomorrow night and a great battle is expected. The Pawtuckets are tied with the Bellevues for league leadership, while the Americans are in the second division. But with Muno in the box for the Americans and several new players recently added Manager Ryan's boys are confident of "taking" the Pawtuckets.

It is expected that Tardiff who has pitched the Pawtuckets to five victories in six starts, losing the one game to the Bellevues when his team mates were held in a late hit by South Trask of the Bellevues, will see the rubber for his team, and with Muno opposing him, a pitchers' battle is predicted.

On Thursday night, Tommy Fleming's Bellevues, who fought their way into the City Twilight league last week, will meet the Butlers. Trask, one-hit pitcher extraordinary, will again be Manager Fleming's selection, while Billy Rogers, the Butler pitcher, declares he will have a strong team in the field.

EMERALDS DEFEAT THE HUDSON A. A.

Saturday afternoon, on the North common, the Emeralds annexed the Hudson A. A. to their list of victories by the score of 7 to 6. Lamb pitched a good game for the Emeralds, allowing but 6 hits and striking out 13 of his opponents. Salois fanned twice also for the winners. When out of four times at bat he hit a single, a double, and a three bagger.

After the Hudson team had tied the score in the ninth by gathering two runs, Salois banged out a three base hit and scored the winning run on an overthrow at third.

HEBERT AND POLO TO MEET FOR TITLE

"Punch" Mayo announced today that he has signed Frankie Hebert, local flyweight to meet Eddie Polo of Waterville, Me., for the New England flyweight championship, the bout to be staged at Nashua on next Monday night, July 21. In the semi-final to the Hebert-Polo match Louis Hamlin will meet Wally Theroux.

DIXIE'S ALL-STAR PICKS MAKE GOOD IN MAJORS

The "all-star" picks seldom mean more than empty honors.

Baseball stars on All-Southern picks within the past few years, however, have proven an exception and collectively would make a fairly strong major league team.

Approximately 24 players, a standard big league club, are rated as regulars or near-regulars in the majors today after serving in southern colleges.

Joe Sewell and Riggs Stephenson, with Cleveland, are probably the more notable of the infielders. Both are four for the University of Alabama. Chick Galloway of the Athletics is a South Carolina University alumnus. Joe Evans of the Browns and Frank Ellerbe of Cleveland are grads of Mississippi A. & M. and Sewanee respectively. Del Pratt of the Tigers graduated from Alabama.

Other Dixie college stars in the southern college outlanders. Gink Hendrick of the Yankees was All-Southern from Vanderbilt in 1920. Red Wingo of the Yankees was an All-Southern pick in 1919. Hilt Falk of the White Sox was a Texas college star. Ike Boone of the Red Sox was a star at Alabama in 1919.

RAIN HALTS SILESIA FROM EVENING UP

The Silesia A. A. ball team seemed in a fair way yesterday to even up with the Manchester team in the Central league for the defeat the Granite Staters handed out Saturday but June 14th rain ruled otherwise and the rain fell just too soon to let Silesia grasp victory. At Manchester Saturday the No. 9 Chelmsford nine was beaten by 7-5 in a fine hitting game. Yesterday Silesia, on the home diamond, took a 2-0 lead in the second stanza and seemed like the winner until the rain interfered. Saturday's game by innings:

Manchester	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	7
Silesia	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	6

SEVEREID BEST FOUL CATCHER

By N.E.A. Service
ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Foul fly balls are the bane of most catchers.

No part of their work is more difficult than accurately judging and catching in the direction of the stands.

In this respect Hank Severeid, clever backstop of the St. Louis Browns, is probably the best in the majors.

During the last eight years of his major league career Severeid has dropped only one foul fly ball.

Considered most catchers average about a half dozen errors a year on such plays.

(This is the first of a series of six articles on methods of life saving about the water. The second will appear tomorrow.)

BY MARGARET PLUNKETT

Good swimmers—even expert swimmers—often lose their lives in disastrous attempts to save others from drowning because they themselves do not know the principles of "safety first."

Many persons, thinking in deep water, have dragged others to their death because the would-be rescuers were unable to handle them.

Remember this primary rule: Never let a drowning person maintain a hold on you!

One who is sinking often will seize your wrist with both hands. If it is your left wrist that is being clutched, you must grip his opposite wrist with your free hand; then lift your left foot, place it against the other's shoulder, and push. If your right wrist is being held, push with your right foot.

The push will break the drowning person's grip and will turn his back to you. From a position behind him, an experienced swimmer can carry him along with ease.

Never attempt to knock a drowning person unconscious in order to render him easier to rescue. It is virtually impossible to do so.

Neither must you attempt to inflict pain to make him cease a hold on you. It usually will make him struggle even more.

CENTRAL LEAGUE BARS "INSPIRED ROUNDS" BY ILLEGAL PITCHING GOLF DUFFERS

PITCHBURG, July 14.—The drive to get King Bader, barred out of the major leagues because of his famous "shine" ball, has resulted in the adoption by the Central league managers of a rule prohibiting illegal pitching after June 23. Manager John P. Kiernan of the Pitchburg club, who Bader has been twirling for, protested the exclusion of Bader, unless all fresh pitchers included in the rule were banned. The league at a meeting here last night, voted 5 to 3 to have the rule against the spit ball and all other forms of "unnatural" pitching rigidly enforced. Nearly all the twirlers in the circuit have been using the spit ball, salter, shine or other illegal balls.

Bader, by roughing one side of the ball with small stones in his glove, makes the ball take uncanny twists.

DIXONS TURN TABLES ON LAWRENCE A. A.

With the score 6 to 2 against them in the seventh inning the Dixons Shoe Fix team launched a terrific batting rally and by scoring six runs in the stanza overcame the Lawrence A. A. and won out by the score of 8 to 7 in an interesting game on the South common Saturday. The victory was a sweet one for the Dixons as in a previous encounter they were defeated by the score of 17 to 5. Pearsall and McCormack were in the points for the Dixons and their work was splendid. On Friday night the Dixons went down to defeat at the hands of the Burnside by the score of 7 to 6. It was the second game of a series of three between the two clubs and the result put the Dixons on even terms. The "rubber" game will be played later in the season. On next Saturday afternoon the Dixons will journey to Tewksbury to play a return game with the State Infantry team.

McNerny, star outfielder for the Dixons, will make his debut in the City Twilight league this week, playing with the Rangers.

MACK DERRICKS GALLOWAY

Two years ago American League critics pronounced Chick Galloway of the Athletics the best shortstop, the most improved player in the league. Recently Coach Mack removed him from the lineup because of erratic work in the field.

GET THE SUN CLASSIFIED

AD HABIT

Western Phenoms Prove Bloomers

(BY BILLY EVANS)

"It's the climate," That is the way the folks out west explain many of the phenomena of their great country. Baseball magnates are wondering if the climate might not work the other way relative to some of the star players of that section.

During the past two years several major league club owners have been badly jolted in their dealings with players hailing from the far west. For instance—

John McGraw of the New York Giants paid $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell in real money. The manager of the Giants figured O'Connell would win a place in the outfield and give the club a batting punch. Most of the time since joining the Giants O'Connell has done bench duty.

Kamm a Great Fielder

The Chicago White Sox paid a reputed price of $100,000 for third baseman Bill Kamm.

In the field Kamm has lived up to all advance notices, but hasn't done so well at bat. Recently at his own request he was taken out of the game and given a few days rest.

A year ago Connie Mack paid in the neighborhood of $50,000 for third baseman Sammy Hale.

While Hale had previously been tried by Detroit and sent back, Mack was confident he would add much strength to the Athletics. Allowing for his fielding faults, the leader of the A's was confident he would supply a batting punch to his club.

Last year Hale who had batted around .350 in the Coast league, slumped to .235 with the Mackmen. This year when he failed to do even as well, he was benched in favor of Riccarda.

Probably the biggest disappointment of Mack's entire baseball career was the showing of Outfielder Paul Strand, recently sent to the Toledo club of the American Association. Strand was a $50,000 investment.

Last year, with the Salt Lake team in the Pacific Coast league, Strand led that organization in hitting with the remarkable average of .394 for 134 games.

Strand in amassing that average, made 325 hits, including 43 home runs,

13 triples and 60 doubles. He batted in 187 runs.

Strand Proves Failure

Surely Strand will give my club a batting punch, thought Mack. With the Athletics he hit only a little better than .200.

They do say that the high altitude of Salt Lake City, where Strand played plus the short fences, helped greatly in his 1923 Coast league batting spree. "It's the climate," may be a proper explanation of the failure of some of the highly touted coast batting stars to come through.

Four major league owners have spent a quarter of a million dollars for Kamm, O'Connell, Hale and Strand, and as yet haven't had much of a run for their money.

HAS MONOPOLY ON OHIO TITLE

LOUISE FORDYCE

For the third straight time the Ohio golf championship has been won by Louise Fordyce of Youngstown, O. It will be remembered that Miss Fordyce went to the finals in the western last year.

Billy Evans SAYS

Ball players are a superstitious lot. It is really surprising how far some of the brainy stars of the game permit themselves to be carried away with the flimsy stuff.

Along these lines, it would be a difficult matter to convince the second baseman of the American League, that some one hasn't put the double curse on that position.

The things that have happened to the second sackers in the Johnsonian organization this year read like a hospital list from the battlefield.

Second base is an important cog in the infield defense. Thence lightning fast and furious around the keystone sack.

A majority of the double plays are pivoted at second base. The loss of a fraction of a second in executing a play often spells ruin. Failure to complete a double play is often the deciding factor in a ball game.

Drop a star second sacker out of a team's lineup and immediately the club suffers. One need only glance back over the records of certain American League clubs for such proof.

Five American League teams have felt the handicap of losing a star second baseman through injury. Another suffered because a former veteran star couldn't strike his stride.

At different times, since the opening of the season New York has been without Ward, Cleveland without Stephenson, Washington minus Harris, St. Louis McManus and the Athletics

The Nut Cracker by Joe Williams

AT THE RINGSIDE

"Ain't it awful what these biscuit and gravy fighters get away with nowadays?"

"Awful? It's raw murder. And look at the important Jack they pull down, too!"

"Imagine paying a bologna like Dempsey $400,000 to step a couple terrible rounds. If that's right, then hair nets make great parachutes."

"It wouldn't be so hard to inhale if Dempsey could really fight, but all he's got is a right hand."

"You uttered a few undying phrases there, Thick Lips. Why any one of the old-timers would have made him jump out of the ring."

"John L. Sullivan would have flattened him with both hands tied behind his ears, and I don't mean possibly." And you don't have to stop with John L. either. Corbett would have left-jabbed him simple, and I understand he ain't far from that as it is."

"I got too much consideration for my imagination to even suggest what Jeffries or Johnson would have done to him without even taking a warm-up."

At this point a florid-face announcer begs the indulgence of the crowd.

"I have the pleasure, ladies and gents, to introduce to you tonight the champion heavyweight of the world, Mr. Jack Dempsey himself."

Tumultuous apple sauce.

The above debate is continued—"And I want to say that this Dempsey has got more class than an Astor lawn fete. There ain't nothing he can't do, plus."

"You ain't giving me no inside news, Flat Heads. I saw this superman make gray ashes out of Willard at Toledo."

"You can take the rollcall on the old-timers as far back as you want to but I'll string along with Dempsey."

"String along with him? Say, I'd hate to tell you that this Dempsey would do to them old hams."

ANNUAL REUNION OF RAINBOW DIVISION

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 14.—Gathering from all parts of the country the men who fought in the war in the 42d (Rainbow) division assembled today for their sixth annual reunion. The city was decorated gallily for their reception and a great rainbow spanned the broad steps of the capitol.

Among the war time figures on the convention program are Major General J. G. Harbord, who commanded the division at Brest; Col. J. Monroe Johnson, of Marion, S. C., national president of the Rainbow division association and Fr. Francis J. Duffy, of New York, the chaplain.

for a time missed Bishop because of illness.

Early in the spring Derrill Pratt, 15 pounds lighter than last year, seemed set for a big season as a fielder. Pratt always could hit. This season he failed at the bat.

Eddie Collins at Chicago and Bill Wambach of Boston are the only two regulars at the position who have not suffered because of illness or injury this year.

Last season both Collins and Wambach were out for weeks because of injuries. So that the last two years have been tough ones on the American League second sackers.

That is why ballplayers as a whole, think the position is flimsy.

Since ballplayers are mighty superstitious, it would be a difficult matter to convince them to the contrary.

Questions

1. With no one on the bases, batsman hits to shortstop who fumbles ball badly, second baseman recovering it. Second baseman foolishly tries to get runner at first, although he didn't have a chance. He makes a bad throw, the batsman going to third on the play. Is it possible to charge both men with an error?—F. S.
2. What is the rule relative to the umpire being hit by a thrown or batted ball?—F. S.
3. First baseman drops an easy foul fly. The same batter again sends up a foul fly which the first baseman catches, retiring him. A says if the batsman is retired after a player fails to catch a foul fly said player is not charged with an error. B contends player is charged with error, even though batsman is retired. Who is right?—G. D. C.

Answers

1. Scorers would charge both men with an error on the play. Shortstop would get an error for failing to retire batsman at first. With three of second baseman, which permitted runner to advance two bases, would draw error for that player.
2. If umpire is hit by a thrown ball it is in play. If umpire is hit by batted ball, after a play has been made on it, ball is in play. If umpire is hit by a batted ball before a play is made on it ball becomes dead, batsman is credited with a hit and entitled to first base. No runners advance unless forced.
3. B is correct. A player who fails to retire batsman on a foul fly ball, that scorer believes should be handed, is charged with an error, even though batsman is later retired on some other play.

BRITISH WORLD FLYERS AT KUSHIRO, JAPAN

KUSHIRO, Island of Kokoaido, Japan, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)

A. Stuart MacLaren and his two companions, on their way around the world by air, arrived here today from Minato on Honshu, the main island of Japan.

The next stop of the British flyers is at Hitokappu anchorage on Yeforof Island, one of the Kurile group.

The American round the world flyers stopped at Hitokappu, but instead of retracing their route eastward, the MacLaren party will make a detour from Hitokappu to Attu Island, the westernmost of the Aleutians, where they again will pick up the Americans' trail.

This detour will lead the Britishers to a small lake near the southern end of Paramushir Island, the most northerly but one of the Kuriles, instead of to the anchorage at the northern end of the island used by the Americans as a landing place. Thence they will fly to Petropavlovsk, on the western coast of the Kamohnta peninsula, to Behring Island, Copper Island and Attu. Except Attu, all these islands are in Russian territory. Their use will shorten the overseas jump considerably, as compared with the hop of 850 miles made by the Americans from Attu to Paramushir. Landings there are possible for the British flyers, though the Americans could not come down on Russian territory because America has not recognized the soviet Russian government.

LEE SLUMPS AS FIELDER

Dudley Lee, who starred at shortstop for the Boston Red Sox early in the season, is not going so well. Never a great hitter, he has fallen off badly in his fielding—his one strong forte.

HONOR COMMANDANT AND MRS. ABBOTT

Farewell services, held yesterday morning, afternoon and evening, in honor of retiring Commandant and Mrs. Abbott at Salvation Army hall on Appleton street, were well attended. At the final service in the evening, there was a "full house," ample evidence of the esteem in which the commandant and his helpmeet are held by many Lowell citizens.

Last night's program included the delivery of short addresses by representatives of the different local branches of the army, among those speaking being Treasurer Nelker E. Richardson, Band Sgt. James Wallace, Secretary Jennie Morgan, Recruiting Sgt. Chris Trauten and Young People's Sgt. Alfred Bell, who told of the kindly interest taken by the farewelling officers in all branches of the work conducted in Lowell.

Just before the close of the service, Sergt. Major William Wilson presented Commandant and Mrs. Abbott a Seth Thomas timepiece as a token of love.

Mrs. Abbott replied in a fitting manner. The service closed with a consecration gathering, all taking part in singing "God Be With Ye 'Till We Meet Again."

BLUEBERRY SEASON VERY BACKWARD

Although this is supposed to be the "blueberry season" in Middlesex county, there are not many shipments coming into the city markets from the farms outside, owing to abnormal weather conditions making it a "late season."

Green peas are coming in more freely, with prices ranging from $2 to $3 per bushel, wholesale. Georgia peaches, California watermelons, pears and canteloupes are reasonably priced.

THREE-PIECE OUTFIT

This very effective three-piece outfit copies the most attractive features of the peasant costume and combines them with the best lines of Paris.

The gown is a simple straight-line affair with a low waistline and a pleated skirt. The long coat is much more elaborate. The pleats are held in at the waistline and hemline by bands of embroidery. The embroidery is repeated on the shoulders, applied peasant style.

A collar of white rabbit fur softens the neckline and adds the bit of protection that even a summer coat should afford. The material is white crepe de chine and the embroidery is in shades of blue and orange.

SOME OF THESE POLITICIANS BRING TO MIND THE GARDENER WHO PLANTED FRIED POTATOES

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

Jack Daw's Adventure. Chapter 19

Jack went up into the captain's little cabin and the ruler of the ship was bundled in a big fur coat. "Looks like we are going to have a real spell of cold weather, doesn't it?" he said. "Why, we're almost in the middle of the frozen north," replied the old captain.

Looking down to the deck, Jack could see that the sailors were busy tightening sail ropes. He hurried down to see what this was being done for. "There's a blizzard coming up, sure as you're standing there," snapped one of the crew. So Jack jumped into the work and helped with the ropes.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

"Happy birthday!" said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I don't believe you're ever going to take my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck crossly to Nick. "Ever since I came here things have gone wrong." And at that minute, to make things worse, her hat slid down over her eyes, and Nancy had to fix her all over again. But by and by she got settled and Nick and, now, look pleasant, please, and the camera went click, and the picture was taken and it was all over. "I hope you didn't mind me looking on," said a voice just then, and looking around they saw Mrs. Cotton-tail. "Why, Mrs. Cotton-tail, I didn't see you," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I didn't hear you come in at all!" "Well, here I am," laughed Mrs. Cotton-tail. "I came to get my picture taken. You were all talking so much I don't suppose you could hear anything but your own voices." "It's to be a secret about my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I'm having it taken for a surprise for Wally's birthday tomorrow and he mustn't know a word about it. I know you won't tell."

"Not a word," Mrs. Woodchuck said Mrs. Cotton-tail. "I'll be as silent as—as as anything."

"When will my picture be done?" asked Mrs. Woodchuck. "They'll be done at half past five," said Nick. "Just mail the pictures to Mister Wally W. Woodchuck. They'll come before breakfast and I'll lay the package on his plate as though it was a letter. Goodbye, Nick! Goodbye, Nancy! Goodday, Mrs. Cotton-tail!"

"Happy birthday!" said Mrs. Woodchuck the next day when her husband came down to breakfast. "Thank you, my dear," said the woodchuck gentleman. "Why, what's this?" And he picked up the package off his plate where his wife had laid it. "It's something that came by mail," said Mrs. Woodchuck proudly. "Open it and see."

So Mr. Woodchuck took his knife and ran it along the edge of the package and out dropped a picture. "Well, well, well!" he remarked. "Some kind friend has sent me her picture, but I can't seem to make out just who it is. I see she has borrowed your hat, my dear, but my how her ears do stick up through it! Most remarkable. I should say."

Mrs. Woodchuck seized the picture and gave one shriek of dismay. Mrs. Cotton-tail had been standing right behind her when Nick took the picture and he took Mrs. Cotton-tail's

With Sen. Walsh and
Carl Vrooman

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., July 14.—John W. Davis' hopes of carrying western agricultural states have increased as a result of week-end conferences with Senator Walsh of Montana, and Carl Vrooman of Bloomington, Ill., here.

Mr. Vrooman, who was an assistant secretary of agriculture under President Wilson, saw the democratic nominee at Matapan, his extensive estate there. It is understood that Mr. Vrooman, who farms large tracts in eastern Illinois, urged Mr. Davis to address himself with vigor to agrarian problems and presented practical proposals for land reforms.

Both the western leaders recommended that the candidate devote a large part of this time to a speaking tour of their sections and Mr. Davis asserted he intended to do so.

Refreshed as a result of his restful week-end, Mr. Davis will motor to New York city this morning to begin in earnest the program for his campaign. He will see several party leaders during the day at the home of Frank L. Polk, 5 East 68th street, his temporary headquarters in town, and is expected he will announce soon his choice for national chairman.

Residents of Locust Valley are expecting that he will make Matapan his principal headquarters during the campaign, going to Clarksburg, W. Va., for the notification and for other brief stays.

Neighbors of Mr. Davis and tradespeople and villagers in Locust Valley, mindful of the fame that came to Oyster Bay during Theodore Roosevelt campaigns from Sagamore Hill, hope that he will keep to his home here until next November. Sagamore Hill is less than a dozen miles from Matapan.

Mr. Davis passed a quiet Sunday, attending church and going for a horseback ride in the morning and receiving social callers and taking a dip in the sound in the afternoon. He played no golf.

Notification Ceremony
NEW YORK, July 14.—The ceremony of notifying John W. Davis officially of his nomination for the presidency by the democratic party will take place at Clarksburg, W. Va., it was learned today. Formal announcement of the arrangements for the event, which probably will take place within two weeks, is expected within the next few days.

Mr. Davis will deliver the address of acceptance, which will mark the opening of the democratic campaign, at the house where he lived as a boy in the town that has been the residence of his family for a century. The house is now occupied by his sister.

Mr. Davis said he was anxious to get the preliminaries out of the way as soon as possible, in view of the fact that the prolongation of the convention already had somewhat delayed the democratic appeal to the country for control of the government.

After two days of comparative rest at his country home in Locust Valley, N. Y., Mr. Davis drove to New York this morning considerably refreshed and ready to plunge into the last of the preliminary work that must be done to set up the party organization. This he hopes to finish by Friday, and if he succeeds he will then go to Clarksburg, W. Va., for a few days before returning to Clarksburg for the notification ceremony.

ALLOWED TIME TO MAKE RESTITUTION

Henry P. Andreoli was arraigned in district court this morning charged with the larceny of $1000 from his employer, Sam Scott, Middlesex street to becomest. The case was continued for six months to afford the defendant opportunity to make restitution.

Andreoli was arrested Saturday afternoon by Lt. Maher and Serg. McConough on a warrant served by Mr. Scott. He had been employed for many years as a salesman and collector and, according to the police, the larceny consisted of a number of small thefts which have been going on for a period of a year.

GIRLS' CITY CLUB

The main feature of the regular Monday evening dance parties of the Girls' city club will be a prize waltz in which it is expected many of Lowell's talented and well known dancers will participate. The dance committee, which is in charge of the regular Monday and Friday evening dances voted to arrange for a prize dance for tonight. The hostesses of the evening will be Mrs. James O'Donnoghue and Mrs. Charles Holmes.

The Australian and the Swede watched each other throughout the race, both keeping a safe distance ahead of the other competitors, satisfied to qualify. Authorities Searching for the Body of Maj. McLeary, Missing Army Officer

Auto, Abandoned and Containing Blood-Stained Army Cap Found Saturday

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 14.—(Fear)ing that Major Samuel H. McLeary, missing United States coast artillery officer, has been killed, civil and military authorities set out early today on a search for his body in the woods and streams in the vicinity of Canton, N. C., where his automobile, abandoned and containing a blood-stained army cap and other effects, was found Saturday near a farm.

Major McLeary passed through Raleigh July 2, en route in his automobile from Norfolk, Va., to Port Moutrie, S. C., where he was expected July 4. His car was abandoned July 3 in a lonely section of mountainous road but the owner of the farm nearby failed to notify the authorities. It is said, until Saturday, meanwhile, Gov. Neff of Texas, the missing officer's native state had asked Gov. Morrison of North Carolina, to institute a search for him and the war department has taken similar action.

Chief H. A. Summer of the Canton police, who was the first informed of the finding of the major's automobile, said he had been informed that the car entered that section with two men on the front seat and one in the rear, but came down the mountain with only two passengers. Canton is several hundred miles off the regular route from Raleigh to Columbia, S. C., his next stop.

SIX COUNTS IN SINCLAIR INDICTMENT UPHELD

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Six of the ten counts in the indictment of Harry F. Sinclair for contempt of the senate were sustained today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

Justice Hoehling ruled out questions asked of Sinclair about the alleged contribution of Sinclair Consolidated stock to Will H. Hays or someone representing the republican national committee and transfer of funds from the National Bank of New York to the National Metropolitan bank of Washington, as not pertinent. He also made the same decision on the final count which charged Sinclair with refusing to answer any questions.

Sinclair was given 20 days to plead again. In reviewing the case Justice Hoehling cited various precedents and following the general rule in such questions declared the issue of the authority of congress should be resolved against the defendant and in favor of the existence of the power to compel pertinent testimony in aid of the exercise of its legislative function, but excluding self-incrimination.

In view of the fact reaching questions involved, Justice Hoehling made the date for Sinclair's next move twenty days ahead, so that if he desired he would have reasonable opportunity to apply to the court of appeals for the allowance of a special appeal. This procedure, it was said, would expedite the final decision by the supreme court of the U. S. where the case ultimately is expected to be settled.

In the claim of counsel for Sinclair that the senate, if it had authority to ask the questions, had deprived itself of jurisdiction by the resolution to refer the oil cases to the courts for determination, the opinion held that this was only a part of the subject matter of the senate inquiry, which he asserted still was incomplete.

J. Harry Boardman, Cashier of Old Lowell Bank, Charged With Misappropriation of $70,000

Sensation in Business, Club and Social Circles Follows His Arrest at Home in Clark Road—May 2, 1923 and Other Dates Named in Warrant As Times of Peculations—Waives Examination and is Held in $25,000 Bail for Federal Court—Bank Commissioner Says Institution is Solvent and Financially Solid

J. Harry Boardman, cashier of the Old Lowell National bank, well known citizen, business and club man, has been arrested on a charge of misappropriating, misapplying and converting to his own use moneys, funds and credits of the Old Lowell bank to the value of $70,630.01.

The arrest was made Saturday afternoon at his home, 107 Clark road, under a warrant issued by U. S. Commissioner Richard B. Walsh and served by Deputy U. S. Marshal Frank E. Hart. The complainant is Norwin S. Bean of Boston, chief bank examiner.

Mr. Boardman waived preliminary examination before Commissioner Walsh and is held under $25,000 bail for the federal district court. The amount of bail was furnished by his wife.

With Mr. Boardman's arrest has come his resignation as cashier of the Old Lowell bank and the immediate appointment to the position of Walter W. Cleworth, formerly assistant cashier.

The arrest of the bank cashier came about as direct result of an examination of the books of the bank which has just been completed. In the warrant it is charged that "on May 2, 1923 and divers other times, he did misappropriate, misapply and convert moneys, funds and credits of the bank to the value of $70,630.01 to his own use, with intent to injure and defraud the Old Lowell National bank."

News of Mr. Boardman's arrest in circulation today caused a marked sensation in business, banking and club circles where he had wide acquaintance. Few men in the city are better known than he, due to his position and the social prominence of his family.

In asking for the arrest of Mr. Boardman, Bank Examiner Bean emphatically declared that the Old Lowell bank is "perfectly solvent and solid and that the extent of the peculations charged up to the cashier in no way mar the bank's credit or its soundness or reliability. The bank's surplus fund is large enough to care for a loss many times greater than the one involved and in addition heavy bonds give still more security. There is 100 per cent. protection for all depositors and all money on deposit."

Matthias Dirst of 139 Concord street, janitor in the Central block, is in a serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of injuries received last night when he fell down the elevator shaft of the Central block from the second floor to the basement. He is suffering from possible internal injuries, fractured ribs and a fractured right leg.

Little is known of the accident for there was no one in the building with Dirst at the time. Officer Thomas Hession found the injured man in the elevator well at 9.30 last night when he entered the building while making his rounds and heard the injured man calling for help. He carried him out of the well and had him taken to his home in an automobile. Physicians summoned to the injured man's home found his condition was very serious and had him removed to St. John's hospital, where his name was immediately placed on the dangerous list.

SANTOS, Brazil, Sunday, July 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Fighting in the city of Sao Paulo, seat of the Brazilian insurrection, has been of the most desperate character during the past few days, according to two employees of an American concern who arrived here today after a perilous journey afoot from the beleaguered metropolis. They estimated that the dead among troops and civilians will reach 3000.

The luxurious Hotel Esplanade at Sao Paulo has been turned into a hospital and is said to be crowded with the wounded. Shells from the besieging federal forces have been falling in the city. One landed on a hotel, killing several people.

To Hop Off for London Where it is Expected They Will Arrive Tomorrow

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—The American round the world flyers arrived here at 4.46 o'clock this afternoon.

The American airmen arrived at the Le Bourget official air field, escorted by a squadron of French army airplanes, in military formation. They were received by Laurent Eynac, under-secretary of the French air ministry.

The first of the flyers to land was Captain Lowell H. Smith, looking tired and covered with perspiration. He was so affected by the enthusiasm of his reception that he replied to M. Eynac's greetings only in monosyllables. The other two flyers landed as quickly afterward as safety permitted.

JOHN REA WANTED FOR DOUBLE MURDER

SPRINGFIELD, July 14.—The police of this city, Palmer and Ware have been asked to look out for John Rea, a World War veteran, who yesterday, it is alleged, entered the home of Salvatore Poleo at South Barre, where several men were eating, and killed Poleo and Lindo Centrocchio with a rifle. The search for Rea was extended here when Deputy Sheriff Daniel Elice of Barre was informed by a Polish farmer that he had seen Rea, whom he knows well, going toward Ware. Deputy Rice said today that he expected his men to effect the capture of Rea today.

ST. LOUIS BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—The Republic National bank here with resources of about $4,000,000, according to the last published statement, today closed its doors permanently. The board of directors decided to liquidate because the bank was losing money, it was announced.

Members of the clearing house association agreed to guarantee the payment of all deposits. The loss to the holders of $1,000,000 in stock was not made public but one official estimated it would be between $750,000 and $800,000. The bank was organized in 1921 by William Sacks, wealthy oil operator with W. E. Brown, previously a Tulsa, Okla., banker, as president. Considerable business was done with Oklahoma oil men and banks.

U. S. MERMAIDS REACH FINALS

Gertrude Ederle, Helen Wainwright, and Martha Norelius Qualify

Previously Both Men Entered From U. S. Team Had Been Eliminated

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Gertrude Ederle, Helen Wainwright and Martha Norelius, America's peerless mermaids, carried the colors of the United States to the front today by qualifying for the finals of the 400 metre swim, free style, in the Olympic competition. Previously both men entered from the American team in the 1500 metre races had been eliminated—one of them after a gallant fight and the other without even taking the water.

Miss Ederle and Miss Norelius qualified handsily but Miss Wainwright had to put forth her best efforts to defeat Miss D. A. Moleworth of Great Britain in the best time for the distance—6 minutes 19 3-5 seconds—since the opening of the competition.

Miss Ederle and Miss Norelius were never extended at any time, disposing of Miss E. A. Martin of Great Britain and Annie Rasmussen of Denmark.

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press) In the trials of the 1500 metre swim for men, free style, in the Olympic competition held today, the United States failed to qualify for the finals. Adam Smith, Erie, Pa., U. S. C. A., found the pace set by Arne Borg of Sweden, and Charlton, the Australian, too hot for him in the first semi-finals while the time of Richard Howell, Northwestern university in the first preliminary trials yesterday was so slow he admittedly had no chance.

PARIS, July 14.—(By the Associated Press) Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup of the United States temple tennis team today were defeated in the women's doubles by Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. Phyllis Covell of Great Britain.

Miss McKane played a superb game, seldom erring. The Americans, in the later stages of the matches concentrated their fire on Mrs. Covell but she gave them back as good as they sent, and better. The Americans were not erratic; they were simply inferior in ability for the day at least to the British team.

GUARD FRENCH FLAG OVER BERLIN EMBASSY

BERLIN, July 14.—Policemen with rifles from atop the Brandenburg gate and the roofs of nearby buildings guarded the flag flying over the French embassy today. The measure was a precautionary one, taken to prevent a repetition of the incident of three years ago, on the French national holiday, when the tri-color was wrested from the staff by men who reached the embassy roof from adjacent buildings. Other police with rifles marched back and forth, directly in front of the embassy, where a string of automobiles constantly brought and took away members of the diplomatic corps calling to pay their respects.

The French embassy here hoists its flag only on July 14.

GEN. BUTLER'S STAY UP TO PRES. COOLIDGE

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Whether Brig. Gen. Butler, director of public safety, will continue as head of the police force after the end of this year, is a matter which the mayor will have to arrange, with President Coolidge, Butler said today. "Irrespective of whether I remain here or not," Gen. Butler said, "I shall keep right on doing what I consider my duty towards the citizens of Philadelphia and expect to complete all the changes and reforms contemplated in the department by the end of 1924."

PRISONERS PAROLED DURING THE YEAR

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 14.—Of the fifty-eight men paroled during the last fiscal year from the state prison, not one parole was revoked because of the commission of any crime. Four were revoked for "indiscreet conduct," and one for the commission of a misdemeanor.

From the five institutions under its control, the parole board, of which Frank A. Brooks of Williamburg is chairman, released a total of 2415 persons, of whom only sixteen were returned to prison because of the commission of crime. 12 of these were re-committed to the Massachusetts reformatory, indicating that they were chiefly mischievous boys.

In its report, submitted today to the commissioner of correction, the parole board declares that it has paroled no man sent to prison "for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor or for driving in a manner to endanger the lives and safety of the public."

During the past year the board held 218 meetings, and released 2415 inmates, about 1500 of whom were serving sentences for drunkenness.

One hundred and sixty-seven state prison cases were considered, in which the board granted a parole in 53 cases.

At the Massachusetts reformatory, 414 were paroled, and of this number 80 were revoked, 12 for the commission of crime.

At the reformatory for women, 92 were paroled, and of these 8 were returned for indiscreet action. It is to be noted that not a single woman was returned to prison for the commission of a crime after parole.

From the prison camp and hospital, 320 were paroled, of whom nine were returned for indiscreet conduct, and one for the commission of crime.

At the state farm, where the commitments are chiefly for drunkenness, the number released was 1530, of whom 413 were returned. Three hundred and eighty-six were sent back for drunkenness, 31 for indiscreet conduct, and only three for the commission of crime.

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now. Mrs. Mary Keller of 132 Benton St., Sisterville, W. Va., was perplexed about her daughter until her own druggist told her they used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at his house, and she did likewise. Miss Irene Mazierska of 90 Peter St., Buffalo, N. A dose can be given in these conditions to any member of the family however young or old as Syrup Pepsin is a simple compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasing aromatics, and perfectly safe.

TYNGSBORO CASES IN THE LOCAL COURT

Six men were arraigned in district court this morning for disturbing the peace and two for drunkenness, as the result of arrests made early Sunday morning in Tyngsboro by Chief Joseph Pelletier of the Tyngsboro police and state constabulary officers.

The four arraigned for disturbing the peace were Robert C. Stephenson of North Cambridge, Stephen Stankunas and Edward J. Bassett of Cambridge, and Thomas Riley of Charlestown. They were arrested at a camp in Willow Dale road Sunday morning at 2:30 o'clock. According to the officers, there was a large number of people in the camp singing and shouting and when the raid was made the four above named took the responsibility of the disturbance upon themselves.

The defendants were represented by Attorney Cornelius O'Neill, who asked Judge Fickman to accept a plea of nolo. The judge refused to accept the plea and one of guilty was entered. After hearing the testimony, the cases were placed on file.

Joseph E. Herbert and Joseph Roberts were arrested at 1:30 Sunday morning while on their way to a camp in Tyngsboro. According to Chief Pelletier in district court this morning, both were staggering drunk. They were found guilty and the cases placed on file.

HOUGHTON SAYS HE'S MUCH ABUSED MAN

Henry Houghton of the Navy Yard district, Dracut, was fined on a drunkenness charge in district court this morning, despite his protest that he was not drunk and that one of the complainants should have been arrested for assaulting him rather than he being arrested on any charge.

The arrest was made Saturday by Dracut officers on complaint of Houghton's neighbors, who claimed he was drunk and was bothering them. Officer Thomas of the Dracut force testified the defendant was drunk. A neighbor of Houghton's, a woman, also testified to the same effect.

Houghton, on the witness stand, admitted he had had some "home brew" which he purchased "down the avenue." He further claimed that the woman who appeared against him had assaulted him with a broom and that her husband had hit him in the eye with his fist, and that his neighbors were always amusing him by calling him names.

A delegation represented the employees of the Dillierica car shops: James E. McNell, James Mann, Isidore A. Tetrault and Willie Chaput. The bearers were Jean and Joseph Tessier, Armand Lemire, Romeo Tessier, Willis N. Pelletier and Edward Callahan. The body was placed in the receiving tomb at St. Joseph's cemetery where Consul Flannery expressed the gratitude of his country for the faithful services of the deceased in the recent war. The arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amadee Archambault & Sons.

ONANIAN—The funeral of Boggos Onanian took place yesterday morning from his home, 352 Lawrence street and was attended by relatives and friends. Services were held at the Armenian Apostolic church, Rev. B. Kazarian officiating. There were numerous floral offerings. The bearers were A. Simonian, B. Bogosian, A. Markarian, H. Yaghoobian, K. Parvian and A. Giragosian. Burial took place in the Westlawn cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. B. Kazarian. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

FIRE IN BEDROOM
A still alarm at 10:07 this morning, was for a bedroom fire at 727 Alken avenue. Clothing stored in the room and the room itself were partially damaged by fire and water.

GUESS WHO THEY ARE!

But you couldn't guess in a year who these folks are? Yet you surely know them—minus their make-up. It is Henry Ford, with the high hat, flowing tie and trick whiskers, up in the driver's seat! And the lady at his left is Mrs. Ford! You will notice, too, they are not riding in a limousine. They are all dolled up this way for a parade in Dearborn, the Detroit suburb, where they live.

OUCH! THAT ARM'S SORE!

Nearly everybody in Pittsburg has a sore arm. A wholesale vaccination, as a preventive against the spread of a smallpox epidemic, is going on. Health authorities have decreed every man, woman and child in the city must be inoculated. More than 150,000 persons already have complied with the order. Here is a group of city employees in line at one of the 20 free clinics.

SHE BUILDS GARAGES

Mrs. Pearl G. Atkinson of Sacramento, Calif., is a portable garage builder with offices at Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco and San Jose. It all came about when she was left at all arms about when she was left eight houses in payment of a debt. She had trouble renting the houses because there were no garages. She bought lumber, hired two men, and sailed in and helped them build garages. They were portable affairs and made such a hit that she started garage building as a business. 'Twas success from the start.

MRS. LLOYD TO RE-ENTER FILMS

NEA Service Writer,
HOLLYWOOD, July 14.—Mildred Davis, wife of Harold Lloyd has done with weeping.
Smilingly admitting that she once believed she could cry beautifully, she wants to shed no more copious tears in picture playing, which she is about to resume.
The advent of Mildred Gloria Lloyd, now a few weeks old, is responsible for the change. And it was during the first joint interview with mother and tiny daughter granted any news writer that Mrs. Lloyd liked at her former inclination toward lachrymose sentimentalism.

MILDRED DAVIS LLOYD

"Reviewing some of my old pictures," said the maternal Mildred, "I blush with embarrassment at my vehemence. It was genuine enough, as I thought, very effective at the time. But now I wonder what prompted my tears. How silly they seem in retrospect.
"No girl knows the richness of life until she's a mother. If ever I had real tears to shed from awe, a deep sense of responsibility and the cares that go with the happiness of maternity, I should shed them now. But I only want to smile—to smile here at home and in pictures I intend to resume making in the next few months. The arrival of little Gloria has put me into joyous humor."
Gloria, encased in pink bassinet, honored the intrusive press and endorsed her mother's tribute by sleeping profoundly throughout the interview.
Instead of terminating her picture career, advanced as Harold Lloyd's leading lady, motherhood has fired Mildred Davis' ambitions anew. She will have her own producing unit under her famous husband's supervision.
Her immediate preparatory problem is reduction of the plumpness which graces her motherhood but which isn't a camera asset. She is going about that slowly and carefully, beginning with tennis and hopes within a few months to acquire her former slenderness.
Harold Lloyd, somewhat old-fashioned in his domestic ideals, has finally been won over to having his wife reappear in pictures. And she's as happy about it as an extra securing her first important role.

Mrs. Lloyd will make her new screen debut with a becoming dignity and maturity coupled to her characteristic winsome simplicity, always free of pretence.
Throughout her period of retirement she has kept pace with screen developments by having pictures run daily in the home projection room, a constant incentive, she says, to return to her profession.
And by temperament, Mildred Davis Lloyd, placid, poised, stable, is admirably equipped to make a dual success of motherhood and motion pictures.

FORMER LOCAL PASTOR AT ALL SOULS CHURCH

Rev. Charles T. Billings, for several years pastor of the First Unitarian church of this city, preached yesterday at All Souls church where he was cordially greeted by many members of former congregations. He based his sermon upon the story of Jacob's dream, taking his text from a verse in the 28th chapter of Genesis, and spoke particularly of the spiritual effect of the dream upon Jacob as recorded in the light of powerful imagination.
In speaking of the problems of the present day, Rev. Mr. Billings said if they are to be solved properly it must come about through the efforts of men who are drawing their power, inspiration and imagination from something that is higher than personal gain or race prejudice.
"In these modern days," said the preacher, "if a man comes to us with some experience of somewhat doubtful authenticity we are apt to think it exists only in his imagination. We do well to distinguish between imagination and fancy, for the latter is responsible for the eccentricities of life, but imagination is made of sterner stuff."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Pinning a handkerchief to the ground with a stiletto at 10 yards distance is a feat accomplished by Antonio Moreno, in his role as a romantic Spanish bandit in "Tiger Love," a George Melford production at the Merrimack Square theatre the first few days of this week. Dagger throwing is a matter of excellent eyesight, says Moreno. He is featured with Estelle Taylor in this Paramount picture, adapted from the Spanish opera "The White Cat" by Manuel Penella "Peter the Great," the accompanying film, is also a Paramount production. It is the story of the epic rise of Russia's greatest man—the man who made her a nation, the czar who as a boy led in the shipyards as a common laborer and fitted himself to be one of the greatest rulers the world has ever known. The part is played by Emil Jannings and he is supported by the continental beauty, Dagny Servaes. Truly a magnificent combination.

RIALTO

In her adaptation of that exciting love story, "The Destroying Angel," Leah Baird is said to have brought to the screen not only a fascinating cabaret dancer who was kidnapped in her ravishing bathing costume before the eyes of a multitude, but one of the lightest heroes and two of the meanest villains ever played by Noah Beery and Mitchell Lewis. Aside from the thrills and laughs contributed by the star herself, which she declares is the best role of her screen career, she added another comedy star to the cast in Ford Sterling, who may be depended on to keep any motion picture audience roaring once he starts one of his characteristic comedy scenes. John Bowers is the hero of this Louis Joseph Vance story, and he is just now coming to be one of the screen's most popular fighting love makers. He figures in the secret marriage, faces death in the wild motorboat chase after the villains on Long Island sound, and then falls to recognize the mysterious missing bride when he finds her. This affords Miss Baird, as the mystery girl, her long awaited chance to play comedy. Her teasing and playful vamping of the love-blind hero are said to keep the laughs popping through the action like the rattle of rapid-fire machine guns. It has every right to be called an all-star cast for all time. "The Destroying Angel" will be the offering on the screen at the Rialto theatre today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

BROADWAY CLUB PLANS OUTING

A meeting of the Broadway Athletic and Social club was held in the clubhouse on Fletcher street yesterday noon. President William Walsh presiding. Plans for an outing of the club were discussed and the following committee appointed to take charge of the affair: Timothy O'Sullivan, Daniel Copley, Eugene Fitzgerald, Daniel Riley, Peter Brady and Cornelius Lynch. Over a hundred members attended the meeting.

LOWELL PASTOR SCORES THE KU KLUX KLAN

Rev. Wallace C. Sampson, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, scored the Ku Klux Klan in his sermon yesterday. "The Ku Klux Klan, although it sets itself up as the champion of Protestantism, will not get very far unless its members owe their allegiance to God instead of imperial wizards," he said. "If you think justice is not being administered fairly in the courts of this country, or if you think the freedom of the press and our traditional freedom of speech is being hindered by political ambitions of any religious organization, don't hide behind a nightdress and try and take the law in your own hands."

Citing the fact that opposition to the Catholic church has been the leading point of the Klan in the north, the pastor said:
"I personally respect Catholics greatly. For one thing, on such a day as this, you will find every one of them at Mass, even if they have to walk miles, while we Protestants stay away from church for so many reasons that one sometimes wonders for what reason we go at all. If we would work with our hearts and souls for the cause of the church, and support it, we would be doing something much better than joining all sorts of orders which start from the wrong angle. We may learn many lessons from our Catholic friends, the greatest of which is loyalty. There are, no doubt, extremes to which this virtue can be carried, but the Ku Klux Klan, although it sets itself up as the champion of Protestantism, will not get very far unless its members owe their allegiance to God instead of imperial wizards. Of course, many will say that the Knights of Columbus of the Catholic church are working heart and soul for the Catholic church and its interests, but if we do not condone that method, why get behind a sheet? If we love the American democracy that we have, let us fight for its liberty and its benefits of other religions with tolerance, for we owe them a debt that we can never pay, and let us gain our ends by the way that was recommended in the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, 'But the greatest of these is love.' Let us love our friends of all races and all creeds, and if their way departs from our free ideals let us not by secret orders, but by open direct methods, seek to educate them to our standard of conduct."

70-YEAR-OLD NEW YORK WATCHMAN MURDERED

NEW YORK, July 14.—Mendel Filerstein, a 70 year old watchman, was murdered early today by burglars who forced their way into the building in Lower Manhattan where he was employed. The watchman's body was found on the second floor, the hands and feet bound and his empty wallet nearby.
The police believe Filerstein was attacked by the burglars when he attempted to prevent them from blowing open a safe in the building. He had been struck on the head.

RADIO CLUB PLANS BIG WORLD ASSOCIATION

By N.E.A. Service

NEW YORK, July 14.—An international radio association may be the means of healing the world's animosities.

This association is being planned and the first steps have already been taken by the American Radio Association, national headquarters of which are in this city.

The way toward accomplishment of this world-wide task is seen through the operation of a chain of broadcasting stations owned and operated by member clubs of this organization, through which constant radio communication could be maintained.

"The success the American Radio Association has had in bringing local radio clubs and individual listeners together into one national organization shows what can be done along international lines," says Alfred M. Caddell, secretary of the A. R. A.

The A. R. A. has attracted attention throughout the world. Inquiries have come from England, Mexico and the British West Indies, and negotiations for the information of similar public associations in Australia and New Zealand have just been completed with M. C. Fry, one of Australia's radio pioneers.

"Public associations have already been formed in France, Spain and other countries, and the A. R. A. is taking the forward step to form the International Radio Association. In this way it is hoped to bring about lasting cordial relations between the many peoples of the earth."

International language societies and radio amateurs of the world are expected to co-operate.

Instead of international gatherings at certain points, the proposal is to hold annual conferences by radio through the broadcasting stations under control of the members of the International Association. Thus every radio fan will be enabled to participate.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR SUPER-POWER

By N.E.A. Service

DENVER, Colo., July 14.—Another link in a powerful super-power broadcasting chain is being constructed here.

It is the third powerful broadcasting station owned by the General Electric Company and forms a connecting link between station KGO at Oakland, Cal., and WGY at Schenectady, N. Y.

According to officials of the company here, the provision is made in the equipment to go to higher power than is now permitted, should the regulations of the department of commerce be changed.

The station will have two studios working together, so that while transmission is going on from one, rehearsal and other preparations may be made for the next number in the other studio. The result will be no waiting between kilowatt, water-cooled power tubes will furnish the power for broadcasting, while eleven motor generator sets will furnish the current for filament lighting, plate current amplifier tube plates, generator field excitation and grid bias potentials.

The tubes will take a 16,000-volt plate supply.

Anyone who listened in on the republican and democratic conventions knows Graham McNamee, one of the most popular announcers of America. He's official voice for WEAF, New York. Besides reporting the conventions by radio, McNamee is noted for his work at the world series baseball games and at boxing bouts. Besides, he can sing! He's a baritone. And he can tickle the ivories.

International radio concerts are being prepared by Station KDKA, Pittsburgh. An evening will be devoted to each nation and the concert will be broadcast in that nation's language, beside English.

Farmers in Belgium are being more and more equipped with radio receiving sets, reports an observer. In cities, half the houses have sets. Only about half pay the state tax of 20 francs for each installation.

SPOTTING BY RADIO

Radio spotting by army airplanes proved such a success at recent military practice in the Philippines that closer co-operation by this means is planned between artillery and aviation officers. Not a single radio failure was reported.

RADIO WORLD'S FAIR IN SEPTEMBER

The First Radio World's Fair to be held in Madison Square Garden and the 68th Regiment Armory, New York City, Sept. 22nd to 28th, is attracting the serious attention of the radio geniuses of the world and scores of them are preparing to introduce their latest inventions at the coming exposition.

Half a dozen recognized wireless engineers are now busily engaged trying to perfect systems for radiating pictures and Messrs. Herrmann and Kerr have high hopes of being able to broadcast the world's first program of "Radio Motion Pictures" on the opening night of the exposition.

Sixty nationally known manufacturers of the United States will have de luxe exhibits at the big fair and England, France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland and Austria will have proper representation in the "Foreign Section." Exhibition booths of elaborate construction will fill both big buildings to which there will be but one admission charge.

The International Amateur Builders' contest is assuming such huge proportions that the show management expects this feature alone to fill the entire basement of Madison Square Garden. Blanks for this competition are being distributed by radio dealers here and abroad and entries are already coming in from all parts of the world. Twenty-five prizes will be awarded in this interesting contest and entry blanks with full particulars will be supplied to all who write direct to General Manager James F. Kerr, Hotel Prince George, New York City.

THE THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT

There is much speculation as to whether the independent candidacy of Senator La Follette for the presidency as leader of a third party, will draw more from the republican than from the democratic party. Some allege that La Follette by his shrewd political methods will be able to make radical inroads to the democratic party; but this is hardly logical inasmuch as he primarily bolted the republican party as an insurgent because the Cleveland convention rejected the planks which he wanted inserted in the platform. He and his following have been largely republican in the past; but it is reasonable to suppose that in the coming campaign, he will make a general appeal to every disaffected element in both parties. We do not believe, however, that he will be able to cut into the democratic party to the extent expected and hoped for by some republican leaders. There is no question as to La Follette's power to control Wisconsin and some other states in that region but it should be remembered that the states in which he is strongest have usually stood in the republican column in national elections.

It was in 1912 that the Roosevelt bolt split the republican party, resulting in its defeat and very general demoralization. In 1906 the independent movement headed by Palmer and Buckner was directed against the democratic party which then adopted a free silver platform with William Jennings Bryan as the presidential nominee. In both cases the independent movement defeated the party against which it was launched; and there is no reason to believe that in the present case the La Follette movement will have any different result. Its chief force will be directed against the republican record of the past four years, the failures, the scandals and the general incompetence shown during that period.

The industrial depression from which the country has suffered will offer the strongest argument against the election of the republican ticket. Furthermore, once the democratic standard bearers have formulated their campaign plans, they will doubtless bring about a solidarity of party action that will not only hold the general support of all true democrats but also attract votes in large numbers from the republican party. Not only will this be true for the head of the ticket but for the candidates seeking election to either branch of congress. Mr. Davis, we expect, will make a rattling campaign that will result in a sweeping democratic victory.

THE PHILIPPINES

The attitude of congress toward the Philippine question is causing embarrassment to General Leonard Wood, the governor-general of our island possessions in the far Pacific, as was to be expected. He has repeatedly expressed his opposition to all proposals for independence at the present time or in the near future. He has also warned the American people that the Philippines are, from the viewpoints of political and governmental experience, financial resources and national defense, yet unfit to assume the burdens of sovereignty. President Coolidge has, of course, endorsed the views of General Wood in toto.

There is little question that the recent publication of the majority and minority reports of the congressional insular affairs committee on the Fairfield bill, has perceptibly injured American prestige and weakened the United States' foothold in that part of the Far East. With the acquisition of power, the Filipino leaders have gained a strategic advantage from which it would be exceedingly difficult to dislodge them.

The American representatives in the Philippines are charged with a maximum of responsibility and a minimum of power. The Filipino leaders have acquired a maximum of power with but a modicum of actual responsibility. A situation such as this, obviously loaded with menacing possibilities, cannot continue very long.

If the Fairfield bill fails to go through the next session of congress, it is a foregone conclusion that the separatist leaders will carry on their campaign for independence with redoubled vigor. And the governor-general, lacking the support and sympathy of congress, will find himself put between the devil and the deep sea, to put it frankly.

SAFETY ON THE HIGHWAYS

Registrar Goodwin makes a strong protest against an apparent case of neglect by a Roxbury court in refusing to notify his office of the conviction of an auto operator for driving while under the influence of liquor. Mr. Goodwin is endeavoring to enforce the law quite vigorously, and he should have general co-operation in banishing intoxicated drivers from the highways. Unless this menace to public safety be remedied, the accidents, fatal and otherwise, on the highways will continue, and conditions will become worse instead of better.

At present the law is not sufficiently severe in dealing with the drivers who are found intoxicated in charge of motor vehicles on the highways. Nothing but jail sentences will have the necessary effect. The fines have been tried and found ineffective. The number of killings in auto accidents is quite alarming. Rigorous measures must be adopted to make the highways safe for the public.

Justice House in a New York court says a drunken man at the wheel of a moving auto is worse than a maniac with a gun in a crowded thoroughfare. It requires no argument to prove the truth of that statement.

McADOO FOR DAVIS

Mr. McAdoo before starting for Europe gave out a brief statement in which he declared that after his European vacation, he would join the other democratic leaders in support of the party ticket. Undoubtedly he was more disappointed than any other candidate in the running. This, of course, might be expected from the fact that he was the leader in the convention for a whole week and that on several occasions he came very near securing a majority vote. So complete and widespread was the organization he had built up previous to the convention, that he was justified in assuming he could secure the nomination. Indeed he must have felt that his nomination was a foregone conclusion, but the elements behind him resulted in his undoing, and he cannot justly blame the convention for the result. There never was a more spontaneous contest, nor a more harmonious result than the final nomination of John W. Davis. For that reason no democrat can justly complain of the nomination. The fact that McAdoo will work for the success of the ticket will help to hold his supporters in line and even induce them to work for party success.

SUMMER PLAYGROUNDS

The city is now conducting a number of public playgrounds at very considerable expense for the benefit of the children of the city. It is to be hoped that all the children will take advantage of the instruction and amusement supplied by the various activities conducted on these playgrounds. If only the discipline be considered, the children will benefit very much by attending the playground exercises. They are drawn from the dangers of the streets, but at the same time, they are benefited by healthy exercise in the open air while many are also interested in various lines of instruction in manual handicrafts or in domestic science.

There is no strict rule governing playground activities inasmuch as everything undertaken is conducted largely on the principle that it is for the amusement and entertainment of the children. But even in that way, much valuable instruction can be imparted, and it has been found that the work of the playgrounds is a very material aid to the children in their school studies. It should be said, however, that the school department provides the teachers for manual training and domestic science so far as these are conducted in connection with the playgrounds.

REPARATION SETTLEMENT

It is gratifying to find that the premises of France and England seem inclined to accept the judgment of an American official wherever they differ on vital points regarding the Dawes plan of settling the reparation question with Germany. It is to be hoped that this problem will be solved as soon as possible, inasmuch as it has been the menace of European peace and the great obstacle to the resumption of industrial activity in many of the countries of Europe. So damaging has been the effect of this reparation controversy that it has been felt here as well as in Europe in reducing to a very great extent the demand for our manufactured products.

It is proposed to raise a fund of $1,000,000 for a Walter Hines Page school of international relations in connection with Johns Hopkins university. The question may be asked where or when will such appeals terminate. Such a school might prove valuable if it remained true to American principles but of that there is no guarantee.

According to Connie Cronin, chairman of the democratic city committee, he will keep the Davis banner flying until the polls close in November. Let the good work go on.

Most people are trying to find out just what manner of man is this Governor Bryan of Nebraska. It is in his favor that he is not a professional politician.

The fall is expected to bring better business. The prospect of a democratic victory in November will help to restore confidence and a general forward movement in industry.

The farmers must be assured that their interests will be served by the election of the democratic party to power.

An Davis was nominated by the whole democratic convention he will be supported by a united party.

Building operations are moving to a high mark this season.

SEEN AND HEARD

An ideal husband is the man every wife could have married but didn't.

Women will not be men's equals until you can slap one on the back and borrow a dollar.

A girl who thinks a man comes to hear her instead of to see her is liable to die an old maid.

A Thought

The reproach of a friend should be strictly just, but not too frequent.—Buddell.

Plenty of Time

The new hired man had been the most difficult to awaken in all Farmer Haytoss's long experience with that ilk, but he had been at last routed out of bed and was sitting a state of semi-somnolence at the breakfast table. Just to make conversation, his host and employer remarked: "I thought it was going to rain last night." "Well," yawned the assistant, "I reckon it might before mornin'!"—Inklings.

Good Advice

President De Forest of the Metropolitan Art Museum discussed, at a dinner in New York, the art fairs and scandals which are now exciting Paris. "Only little dealers take," he said, "in art as in everything else, honesty alone succeeds. It was good advice, after all, that the customer gave you a day?" the customer asked. "Some 400 pounds on the average," said the baker. "I can tell you," said the customer, "how to sell 500 pounds." "Can't you?" said the baker eagerly. "What's the idea?" "Give full weight," said the customer.—New York Mail.

Angel Needed

An old colored preacher owned a mule which had an efficient pair of heels and a loud but unassuming voice. One Sunday morning, while the preacher was earnestly exhorting, the mule persisted in putting his head in at the window and braying loudly. The preacher finally said, "Brodders and sistern, is dere one among you at who knows how to keep that mule quiet?" "Pahson," replied a man, "if you all will less to a stone to dat mule's tail he shill keep quiet." "Brodders and sistern," responded the preacher, "let him who is without sin be first stoned!"—Judge.

Explaining the Marks

"I want to get off at Podunk," said the cash-fare and slightly soured passenger. "Sorry," said the conductor, "but this train doesn't stop at Podunk." "But it does! I read it in the time card," said the passenger, getting wrathful. "Let me see the time card where it says so," said the conductor patiently. "Here it says so with that little letter a beside it." "But that's a conditional stop," explained the conductor. "What condition?" "Well, it means," said the conductor coldly and finally, "that when a chap is in your condition, it won't stop to let him off, badly as the conductor hates to carry him any further. And that 'a' stands for 'always'."—Life.

Periods in a Man's Life

The 30's are the molding years of life, when the young man forms those habits that shall direct his career. Then he finishes his school work, stands before the altar, establishes a home and looks the world in the eye. The 30's are years of discouragement. It is a hard and trying time for all. It is a time of battle without the power and dream of youth. The 40's are the years of vision, when a man finds himself, finishes his studies in the air and knows the value of his dreams. Life comes to its ripening in the 50's. These should be the years of jubilee and he should do his best work then. At 60, a man has committed enough mistakes to make him wise far above his juniors. He should live better and do better work than in any decade of his life. No man has a right to retire in the 60's; the world has need of his wisdom. Some of the best work in the world is done in the 70's. No man has a right to retire at any age unless he wishes to die. A word of congratulation to those who have reached 70 and beyond: You have almost finished your course; we trust that you have fought a good fight and that there is laid up for you a crown of righteousness.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

On Buying a Value Farm

The house should be white, The barn red, The farm-carts blue, There should be a hillock for the dead, And a bed-room view, Old apple-trees, A rooster to crow, Down by the cornfield A sunflower now, Cows each with her bell, A fat plow horse, A maiden birch wood, And a young cat of course, Hard work in the field, Good sleep in the bed— And a ship weather-vane To swing overhead.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Nothing in connection with the public playgrounds is more refreshing than to see the youngsters learning to swim in the pond on the South Common. On hot days they get into the water like a school of fishes, all wiggling and wabbling in an effort to swim. It is remarkable, however, that many of them have already learned the art of swimming so that they can strike out and swim across the pond without the slightest difficulty. If every adult could do as well in the water, we should not have nearly so many drownings.

Work at the nutritional clinic under the supervision of Miss Natalie Marshall of the tuberculosis council, is progressing rapidly through the summer months. These clinics now being held in the basement of the new high school with entrance on Anna street, are well attended and much is being done in the promotion of child health and welfare by the interested workers. Miss M. Hayden of the nurses' visiting staff is in attendance daily and each child is weighed and an account kept of the progress made in each case. Following the daily examination and instruction, the children are taught proper food laws and the older children are instructed in the cooking of nourishing foods. The picnic held on the high school grounds recently was a pronounced success and Miss Marshall hopes to hold several outdoor entertainments of a similar kind for the youngsters.

Through the burning sunshine, congenial smiling "Dan" stands at the junction of Merrimack and Central streets politely directing autoists and pedestrians. There is hardly need of mentioning his last name—for there is not a Lowellite who has not been at some time or another cheered by the welcoming smile of the traffic officer stationed at Lowell's busiest corner. "Dan" lives up to the saying that "a smile will go a long, long way," and though skies are sometimes gray there is always a gleam of sunshine at Central and Merrimack streets when "Dan" Brennan directs.

Anxious to onlookers and undoubtedly provoking to traffic officers are the daily occurrences between 4.30 and 5 o'clock about the square. Despite the signs mentioning the fact that the square is closed to traffic, regardless of the pointing hand of the officer in charge, autoists insist on going through the restricted area. Recently a machine bearing a Maryland license plate and driven by a comely young lady, attempted to pass the "detour" sign. The driver succeeded in getting within the boundary, but much to her disgust and after a series of gestulations and some saucy back talk, she was politely told to turn to the right and proceed up Paiko street.

Hundreds of Lowell people heard with great joy that Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan will remain among us in Greater Lowell as a result of his formal designation as pastor of St. Mary's, Collinsville, Conn. Lawrence man, Fr. Heffernan doubtless has more personal friends and acquaintances in this city than in his home city, and inasmuch as his priestly life for upwards of 23 years has been spent here, it is fitting indeed that when a promotion should come it should and him still within the borders of Greater Lowell.

Speaking of Fr. Heffernan, I delight to recall the beautifully eloquent prayer he pronounced on the occasion of the official memorial services in honor of ex-President Wilson last winter. In the Memorial Auditorium. It was inspiring, delivered in a tone of earnest and a prayer which conveyed to the minds of the audience an estimate of the character of the late president. Biles Perry, orator of the day, said his oration was superfluous in the light of Fr. Heffernan's eloquent prayer. Hence it is that Fr. Heffernan's personality will be a tower of strength to the religious and civic life of Dracut and the latter's citizens, regardless of one's will find him a high minded, patriotic citizen; a lover of all things that make for righteousness and honesty in public and private life.

Despite Chief Atkinson's assertion that he has no money in the police appropriation to purchase khaki uniforms for the traffic officers, several of the officers were seen in duty khaki on Saturday. It was undoubtedly that and that something should be done to provide them with a lighter uniform. It is doubtful if anything can be done this year, but if steps are taken in time, it may be possible to arrange for new uniforms for the traffic officers for next summer.

It is doubtful if there is any one occasion in the year where the Rotary club proves its worth more than at the annual outing given to the orphans of the city. Year after year thousands of children who make their homes in the city's orphanages are treated to a picnic "fit for a king" by the Rotarians, and it is certain when they grow up they will not forget the good that they provided them so much enjoyment. Paul Peck, agent of the Massachusetts millie is chairman of the transportation committee, and on his hands rests the responsibility of getting the tots to and from the outing grounds safely. In this work he deserves the assistance of everyone.

LICENSES REVOKED

It is reported from the office of Frank A. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, that the registration certificate of Antonina Gerick, 167 Charlott street, has been revoked on the ground that Gerick is not a proper person to hold such a certificate.

MELROSE MAN DROWNED AT FORGE VILLAGE

Joseph P. Lucey, 25, of Melrose, was drowned Sunday morning in Mattawaugus pond, Forge Village, and Eli Melanson, also of Melrose, narrowly escaped death when he made an attempt to rescue his chum. Lucey's body was found late in the day and was taken to his home.

Lucey was one of a party of campers who had just begun a vacation at a cottage on the shore of the pond. With three other friends he went out in a rowboat early yesterday morning and rowed into the water, while attempting to reach an oar which lay several feet from where he was sitting. Melanson was so exhausted that it took several minutes to revive him after reaching the shore.

DIAPHENIA

Diaphenia like the daffodowpilly,
White as the sun, fair as the lily,
Heigh ho, how I do love thee!
I do love thee as my lambs
Are beloved of their dams;
How blest were I if thou wouldst prove me

Diaphenia like the spreading rose,
That in thy sweets all sweets encloses,
Fair sweet, how I do love thee!
I do love thee as each flower
Loves the sun's life-giving power;
For dead, thy breath to life might move me

Diaphenia like to all things blessed
When all the praises are expressed,
Dear joy, how I do love thee!
As the birds do love the spring,
Or the bees their careful king,
Then in requite, sweet virgin, love me!

—Henry Constable.

Tinkering Around

When from work you're away and you plan for a day just to loaf around home, it is true, that your plans run amuck and you always get stuck for the wife finds you plenty to do.

The icebox is tainted; the screens must be painted; you humbly get down on our knees and fix up the chest while in old clothes you're dressed; then you get out the paint, if you please.

Isn't a joke that the babe's bed is broke; a couple of slats fallen through. With a hammer and nail to the job you must sail, for the fixing it up's up to you.

The porch must be scrubbed and the window panes rubbed and the furniture's needing a shine. You work right along, righting things that are wrong, if your lot is the same as is mine.

Yes, you'll sure be outguessed on the day that you're rest, for the married men always have found that the Missus gets dizzy at keeping them busy; just workin' and tinkering 'round.

NEW REGULATIONS FOR "GRADE A MILK"

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 14.—New regulations governing the preparation and marketing of "grade A milk" have been prepared by the state department of health, under an act of the recent legislature which is to become operative July 28, and are to be published by the department today for the purpose of obtaining public comment relative thereto.

The draft published today is announced to be tentative and subject to revision if improvements are pointed out by those interested in the question.

Criticism of the new regulations, the department announces, should be sent to its office at the state house, or to any of the members of its food and drug committee, which comprises Warren C. Jewett of Worcester, Dr. Sylvester Ryan of Springfield, and Dr. Francis J. Lally of Milford.

Chief among the changes made in the proposed regulation are requirements that grade A milk shall contain not less than four per cent of butter fat, which is ten per cent more than is found in the average market milk; and that every bottle of pasteurized grade A milk shall be covered with a special cap, stamped to indicate the day of the week on which it was pasteurized.

Face Disfigured With Itchy Eczema Cuticura Heals

"Eczema broke out all over my face, arms, hands and back in pimples and blisters. It itched and burned causing me to scratch and irritate the affected parts, and my face was awfully disfigured. I could not do my cooking because the breaking out burned when I went near the stove. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my body, and I lost my rest at night because of the irritation.

4500 DELEGATES ATTEND

Prince of Wales Gives Royal Welcome to Delegates of Advertising Convention

LONDON, July 14.—(By the Associated Press).—A royal welcome today was given to the 4500 delegates of the International Advertising convention by the Prince of Wales when he opened the official sessions of the convention at Wembley.

In anticipation of the prince's arrival, America's 2000 delegates were present long before the meeting was scheduled to begin. When the British heir appeared wearing a lounge suit, a convention button on the lapel of his coat, the American delegates broke into enthusiastic cheering, stamped the platform and kept up the ovation for ten minutes. Then the prince delivered a short address declaring the convention open.

The large conference hall at Wembley was filled to capacity and more than 40,000 people were in the forenoon. The Prince of Wales with his usual boyish manner which so captivates his American audiences had a hard time starting his address, so insistent were the cheers which greeted him. Eventually he discarded his prepared paper to tell the delegates that he had always believed in advertising and in fact that he had done much of it himself. Then he said:

"I think it is the very name of the convention which suggests international interest in the subject. When I see so many people in this hall from every part of the earth, I am convinced that this aim has been realized. You came together from all over the world and receive information and advice from each other regarding commercialism which is the greatest problem we have to face today."

LYNN MAN ARRAIGNED
IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Frank C. Blodgett of Lynn, driver of an automobile which figured in an accident Saturday morning in Billerica which resulted in the death of a woman, was arraigned on charges of drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor in district court this morning.

Through his attorney, Joseph P. Donahue, Blodgett asked for a continuance to Saturday and he was ordered held in $400 for his appearance on that day.

The accident occurred in Andover street, Billerica, shortly after 7 o'clock Saturday morning. According to Chief Livingston of the Billerica police, who made the arrest, the machine driven by Blodgett crashed into a traffic beacon at the center and then proceeded down Andover street. When near the chief's home in Andover street, it turned turtle. George Roberts and Francis Winston, both of Lynn, occupants of the machine, were injured. Roberts was treated at the Lowell General hospital for multiple bruises and was discharged late Saturday afternoon. Winston is at St. John's hospital suffering from a fractured shoulder and two fractured ribs.

Local Review Classes

perintendent of Schools Hugh J. Molloy was slated at the fine start, the most auspicious of the three seasons that the classes have been in vogue.

The students, recommended for the course by the teachers through various school principals, are brushing up on their knowledge of English, arithmetic, algebra, spelling, reading, geography and history.

"Comparatively few cities have summer review classes," said Mr. Molloy this morning. "These classes offer advantages that parents should avail themselves of more generously. Those children who were absent at the morning session this morning will probably be here tomorrow. We shall send letters to their parents advising them of their absence today and urging that they be sent here. Daily absences will be kept on record and parents will be notified by postal of every case."

"It is so much that we can give very extension instruction during so brief a period, but these classes are desirable as they keep up for a part of the summer at least school contacts for children who need all the assistance that can be given."

Those desirous of reaching the summer classes by telephone may do so by calling 2262.

ing eight civilians. Some of the federal artillery, stationed south of the suburb of Ypiranga, has been bombarding the city. Most of the fighting which has been taking place between here and Sao Paulo is said to have been between small bands of rebels and federal troops. Refugees confirm the report that six hundred federal troops who started last week from Santos to aid in the relief of Sao Paulo were cut to pieces by the insurrectionists.

Gov. Da Campos, Sao Paulo state president is understood to be here in Santos now under federal protection. He is declared to have said that the people of Sao Paulo wanted him to remain as a leader in the insurrection, but he refused to join the movement, whereupon he was permitted to escape from the city.

The rebel forces defending Sao Paulo against the attack of the federal troops are estimated to number 24,000. This number is said to be increasing daily by recruits arriving from nearby regions. The federalists at present are estimated to number 24,000 either on hand or en route. The continued federal bombardment of Sao Paulo is said to have turned the entire population overwhelmingly to the support of the leaders of the insurrection.

The rebel forces are equipped in all departments including anti-aircraft guns, airplanes and whippet tanks.

BIG INCREASE IN
DRUNKEN DRIVERS

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, July 14.—Three times as many persons have already been convicted this year of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor as were convicted in the entire year of 1919. This year's record, up to July 10, was 1,647. In all of 1919, there were but 554.

Attention is called to this remarkable increase in a statement issued today by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, making a review of his activities for the past week and for the year.

"The number of second convictions is also increasing all the time," the registrar points out, "and will continue to increase until the courts follow the requirements of the law and put these persistent offenders in jail."

During the week ending June 10, there were 115 convictions for operating under the influence of liquor, this being two more than in the previous week. All but three of these convictions were in the lower courts, yet only eleven persons, or slightly less than ten per cent of those convicted, were committed to jail. Fourteen others were sentenced to jail, but appealed.

In the superior court, the cases of only three drunken drivers were disposed of. One was sentenced to jail, and two others, appealing from jail sentences imposed by the lower courts, were permitted to pay fines.

Last week the registrar suspended or revoked the licenses of 256, 54 less than in the previous week. Of these 89 were liquor cases; 32, operating recklessly or so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public; six, going away after accidents without disclosing identity; four, operating an automobile without authority of the owner; 55, considered by the registrar to be improper persons to be permitted to operate; 55, operating improperly; six, second conviction of over-speeding; 25, improper equipment; one, third conviction of over-speeding; and 13 miscellaneous.

Thirteen persons, ten adults and three children, were killed in motor vehicle accidents during the week.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE IS DISMISSED

A manslaughter charge against John S. Wright of this city, in connection with the death of Daniel Hartley, also of this city, as the result of an automobile accident, June 5th, was dismissed by Judge Pickman in district court as the request report filed today, absolves him of criminal negligence in this case.

The accident resulting in the death of Hartley occurred on the Boston road in North Billerica on the evening of June 5. Hartley was a passenger in a machine operated by Mr. Wright and was killed when Wright drove his machine off the road into a telegraph pole to avoid striking two bicyclists who were riding on the road without any lights. Hartley was thrown against the pole by the impact and died shortly after the accident.

noon, and although a heavy shower occurred, lasting more than an hour, the parade was not held up. Spectators for the most part received a severe drenching, but few fled for shelter, taking it good naturedly as a rule.

The first military duty of the day was formalism for church in the morning. The Catholic services were held in Liberty theatre, as usual, and the Protestant services in the camp gymnasium. Chaplain Farrell led the Catholic services and Chaplain Eltz the Protestant exercises for the soldiers of the 182nd Infantry, including Companies C and D of Lowell.

The Lowell contingents entertained home visitors during the day and evening. Company mess sergeants outdied themselves to do the banquet honors, and real meals were served to the Sunday visitors instead of the usual "chow."

Preparations are going rapidly forward for the presentation of the show, "In Bom Bom Land," to be given by members of the 182nd Infantry. Fifteen girls from Boston, some professional dancers, will assist.

Company D members starting at the targets in revolver firing competitions last week, and whose scores are regarded as excellent, included Jones and Angove, who lead the list. Jones, at 15 yards, slow-fire, secured 48, 47, 50, 48 and 49. Angove's points at the same distance and firing were 46, 47, 44 and 46. Jones made 46, 49 and 47 at 25 yards; Angove got a 42, 45 and 46. In the rapid fire contest, 15 yards, Jones' scores were 42, 45 and 48; Angove's 47, 45 and 48. The rapid-fire record by Jones was 45, 46 and 47, with Angove a close second with 45, 46 and 45. This contest was for a Company D silver cup. Jones capturing the prize.

A divisional mobilization text in preparation for the coming national mobilization of all regular army, national guard and reserve units of the armed forces of the country Sept. 12, featured the close of the first week's training of the 26th division.

The 131 national guardsmen from the Spindle City signed their pay-rolls Saturday afternoon, but no money will be forthcoming for several days. The 182nd Infantry horses used by the 45th and 46th regiments are the greenest ever. They repeated their rodeo tactics Saturday in the division parade, and also in the brigade review Sunday. Several bolted across the field for a mile or more, frightening many spectators who ran for safety.

Hawkers and peddlers, arriving in round numbers Saturday and peering soldiers and camp visitors were rounded up and driven out of the campgrounds.

The national guardsmen now in camp, entered their second week of military training this morning. The encampment winds up next Saturday morning, when the Lowell boys, bag and baggage, will start for home. They will leave Camp Devens in a special train also containing Lawrence and Haverhill troops, and should reach Middlesex street railroad station about noon. The members of Companies C and D will parade in field service outfits through the downtown streets before returning to the Westford street armory for dismissal.

This morning, platoon drills on the maneuvers program for the members of Companies C and D. There was instruction also in combat principles, with examples of advance firing and "covering." Another regimental parade is scheduled for the late afternoon. On Wednesday, there will be physical drills and then automatic rifle firing, with practice on outpost duty and general field inspections following.

Over eighty thousand readers daily will have an opportunity to read your ad if you place it in the Sun. Lowell's greatest advertising medium.

HAY CROP BELOW
AVERAGE IN N. E.

WAKEFIELD, July 14.—The hay crop is below the average in all parts of New England, says a bulletin issued by the New England crop reporting service today. The average condition in New England on July 1 was 80 per cent, as compared with 86.1 last year and the average of 87.6 per cent. In southern New England, the crop is up to that of last year, but the June drought made it very short in northern New England.

Corn planted on a slightly increased acreage in New England is very backward and in need of rain and hot weather. Oats and other small grains as a rule are indicating crops close to the average.

Reports from New England farmers shows a 5.5 per cent increase in potato acreage over last year. Maine, the chief source, has 130,000 acres planted as compared with 124,000 last year. The July 1 condition was slightly above the average.

Western Phenoms Prove Bloomers

(BY BILLY EVANS)

"It's the climate."

That is the way the folks out west explain many of the phenomena of their great country.

Baseball magnates are wondering if the climate might not work the other way relative to some of the star players of that section.

During the past two years several major league club owners have been badly jolted in their dealings with players hailing from the far west.

For instance—

John McGraw of the New York Giants paid $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell in real money. The manager of the Giants figured O'Connell would win a place in the outfield and give the club a batting punch. Most of the time since joining the Giants O'Connell has done bench duty.

Kamm a Great Fielder

The Chicago White Sox paid a reputed price of $100,000 for third baseman Bill Kamm.

In the field Kamm has lived up to all advance notices, but hasn't done so well at bat. Recently at his own request he was taken out of the game and given a few days rest.

A year ago Connie Mack paid in the neighborhood of $50,000 for third baseman Sammy Hale.

While Hale had previously been tried by Detroit and sent back, Mack was confident he would add much strength to the Athletics. Allowing for his fielding faults, the leader of the A's was confident he would supply a batting punch to his club.

Last year Hale who had batted around .350 in the Coast league, jumped to .285 with the Mackmen. This year when he failed to do even as well, he was benched in favor of Riccozza.

Probably the biggest disappointment of Mack's entire baseball career was the showing of Outfielder Paul Strand, recently sent to the Toledo club of the American Association. Strand was a $50,000 investment.

Last year, with the Salt Lake team in the Pacific Coast league, Strand led that organization in hitting with the remarkable average of .391 for 194 games.

Strand in amassing that average, made 325 hits, including 43 home runs,

13 triples and 66 doubles. He batted in 187 runs.

Strand Proves Failure

Surely Strand will give my club a batting punch, thought Mack. With the Athletics he hit only a little better than .200.

They do say that the high altitude of Salt Lake City, where Strand played plus the short fences, helped greatly in his 1923 Coast league batting spree. "It's the climate," may be a proper explanation of the failure of some of the highly touted coast batting stars to come through.

Four major league owners have spent a quarter of a million dollars for Kamm, O'Connell, Hale and Strand, and as yet haven't had much of a run for their money.

to relieve batman on a foul fly ball, that scorer believes should be handled, is charged with an error, even though batman is later retired on some other play.

BRITISH WORLD FLYERS
AT KUSHIRO, JAPAN

KUSHIRO, Island of Kokoro, Japan, July 14.—(By the Associated Press.) A. Stuart MacLaren and his two companions, on their way around the world by air, arrived here today from Minato on Honshu, the main island of Japan.

The next stop of the British flyers is at Hitokappu anchorage on Yotorof Island, one of the Kurile group. The American round the world flyers stopped at Hitokappu, but instead of retracing their route eastward, the MacLaren party will make a detour from Hitokappu to Attu Island, the westernmost of the Aleutians, where they again will pick up the Americans' trail.

This detour will lead the Britishers to a small lake near the southern end of Paramushir Island, the most northerly but one of the Kuriles, instead of to the anchorage at the northern end of the island used by the Americans as a landing place. Thence they will fly to Petropavlovsk, on the western coast of the Kamohata peninsula, to Behring Island, Copper Island and Attu. Except Attu, all these stops are in Russian territory. Their use will shorten the overseas jump considerably, as compared with the hop of 856 miles made by the Americans from Attu to Paramushir. Landings there are possible for the British flyers, though the Americans could not come down on Russian territory because America has not recognized the soviet Russian government.

LEE SLUMPS AS FIELDER

Billy

SAYS

Ball players are a superstitious lot. It is really surprising how far some of the brainy stars of the game permit themselves to be carried away with the line stuff.

Along these lines, it would be a difficult matter to convince the second baseman of the American League, that some one hasn't put the double curse on that position.

The things that have happened to the second sackers in the Johnsonian organization this year read like a hospital list from the battlefield.

Second base is an important cog in the infield defense. Things happen fast and furious around the keystone sack.

A majority of the double plays are pivoted at second base. The loss of a fraction of a second in executing a play often spells ruin. Failure to complete a double play is often the deciding factor in a ball game.

Drop a star second sacker out of a team's lineup and immediately the club suffers. One need only glance back over the records of certain American League clubs for such proof.

Five American League teams have felt the handicap of losing a star second baseman through injury. Another suffered because a former veteran star couldn't strike his stride.

At different times since the opening of the season New York has been without Ward, Cleveland without Stephenson, Washington minus Harris, St. Louis McManus and the Athletics

"Ain't it awful what those biscuit and gravy fighters get away with nowadays?"

"Awful? It's raw murder. And look at the important jack they pull down, too!"

"Imagine paying a holonga elike Dempsey $400,000 to step a couple terrible rounds. If that's right, then hair nets make great parachutes."

"It wouldn't be so hard to inhale if Dempsey could really fight, but all he's got is a right hand."

"You uttered a few undying phrases there, Thick Lip. Why any one of the old-timers would have made him jump out of the ring."

"John L. Sullivan would have fattened him with both hands tied behind his ears, and I don't mean possibly."

"And you don't have to stop with John L. either. Corbett would have left-jabbed him simple, and I understand he ain't far from that as it is."

"I got too much consideration for my imagination to even suggest what Jeffries or Johnson would have done to him without even taking a warm-up."

At this point a florid-face announcer begs the indulgence of the crowd.

"I have the pleasure, ladies and gents, to introduce to you tonight the champion heavyweight of the world, Mr. Jack Dempsey himself."

Tumultuous apple sauce.

"And I want to say that this Dempsey has got more class than an Astor lawn felt. There ain't nothing he can't do, plus."

"You ain't giving me no inside news, Flat Head. I saw this superman make gray ashes out of Willard at Toledo."

"You can take the rollcall on the old-timers as far back as you want to but I'll string along with Dempsey."

"String along with him? Say, I'm hate to tell you what this Dempsey would do to the old hams."

ANNUAL REUNION OF
RAINBOW DIVISION

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 14.—Gathering from all parts of the country the men who fought in the war in the 42d (Rainbow) Division assembled today for their sixth annual reunion. The city was decorated gallily for their reception and a great rainbow spanned the broad steps of the capitol.

Among the war time figures on the convention program are Major General J. G. Harbord, who commanded the division at Brest; Col. J. Monroe Johnson, of Marion, S. C., national president of the Rainbow division association; and Fr. Francis J. Duffy, of New York, the chaplain.

for a time missed Bishop because of illness.

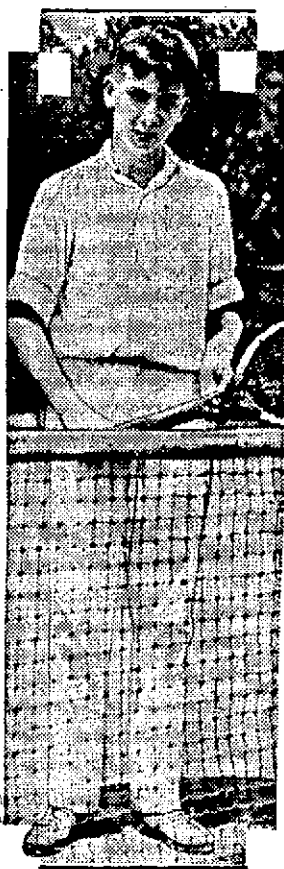

Early in the spring Derrill Pratt, 16 pounds lighter than last year, seemed set for a big season as a fielder. Pratt always could hit. This season he failed at the bat.

Eddie Collins at Chicago and Bill Wambagans of Boston are the only two regulars at the position who have not suffered because of illness or injury this year.

Last season both Collins and Wambagans were out for weeks because of injuries. So that the last two years have been tough ones on the American League second sackers.

That is why ballplayers as a whole, think the position is jinxed.

Since ballplayers are mighty superstitious, it would be a difficult matter to convince them to the contrary.

Questions

1. With no one on the bases, batsman hits to shortstop who fumbles ball badly, second baseman recovering it. Second baseman foolishly tries to get runner at first, although he didn't have a chance. He makes a bad throw, the batsman going to third on the play. Is it possible to charge both men with an error?—F. S.

2. What is the rule relative to the umpire being hit by a thrown or batted ball?—F. S.

3. First baseman drops an easy foul fly. The same batter again sends up a foul fly which the first baseman catches, retiring him. A says if the batsman is retired after a player fails to catch a foul fly and player is not charged with an error. B contends player is charged with error, even though batsman is retired. Who is right?—G. D. C.

Answers

1. Scorers would charge both men with an error on the play. Shortstop would get an error for failing to retire batsman at first. Wild throw of second baseman, which permitted runner to advance two bases, would draw error for that player.

2. If umpire is hit by a thrown ball it is in play. If umpire is hit by a batted ball, after a play has been made on it, ball is in play. If umpire is hit by a batted ball before a play is made on it, ball becomes dead, batsman is credited with a hit and entitled to first base. No runners advance unless forced.

3. B is correct. A player who fails

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 14.—Under the impetus of pool operations, stock prices moved upward at the opening of today's market, with the chemical and equipment issues making rapid forward strides. New high records for the year were established by various issues. Davidson Chemical advanced 8 points and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe two points.

The scope of trading broadened as the growing volume of buying orders brought the stock market to its sixth consecutive week of rising prices. Inquiry ran chiefly to industrials and specialties, with a fair demand for representative rails. Southern Railway preferred, reaching a new 1924 high, Phillips-Jones, after a sensational thirty point spurt last Saturday, sold ten points higher at $5. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe extended its gain to 3 points, touching the year's highest price at 97 1/2. A dozen public utility and other issues achieved 1924 top prices and advances of 1 to 2 1/2 points were scored by Gulf States Steel, General Asphalt, International Paper and Allied Chemical and others. Foreign exchanges opened strong.

Bullish demonstrations continued in many sections of the list, although selling cropped out in spots. Stewart & Co. was forced down 2 1/2 points, and General Electric, American Water Works, United Fruit and Iron Products, were heavy. The sustained strength of many popular issues, however, brought increasing nervousness to the short interests as mounting prices failed to induce realizing of any consequence. U. S. Steel repeated last week's high mark at 101 1/2 and International Paper was in demand above 55. Phillips Jones extended its gain to 13 points and the preferred advanced 12 on reports that the company was entitled to collect damages of about $4,000,000 from its competitor.

Scattered speculative selling by those who saw an opportunity to transfer their attention to stocks which promised a speedier profit, occurred after mid-day, and Sinclair was driven down to 16. A new low price for the year. Numerous other industrials and specialties however, were marked up 2 to 4 1/2 points.

The closing was irregular. Shares of the Eastern railroads advanced briskly in the final dealings. Jersey Central nearing 18 points to a new high along with several others. Oils, however, were heavy and selling pressure was directed against some motor and accessory issues.

The operator of the car knew nothing of the occurrence until the car reached the square, when he was informed by the passengers, and he immediately notified the police. A motorcycle officer was sent to the district where the young men were seen but found no one.

This very effective three-piece outfit copies the most attractive features of the peasant costume and combines them with the best lines of Paris.

The gown is a simple straight-line affair with a low waistline and a pleated skirt. The long coat is much more elaborate. The pleats are held in at the waistline and hemline by bands of embroidery. The embroidery is repeated on the shoulders, applied peasant style.

Jack Daw's Adventure. Chapter 19

Jack went up into the captain's little cabin and the ruler of the ship was bundled in a big fur coat. "Looks like we are going to have a real spell of cold weather, doesn't it?" he said. "Why, we're almost in the middle of the frozen north," replied the old captain.

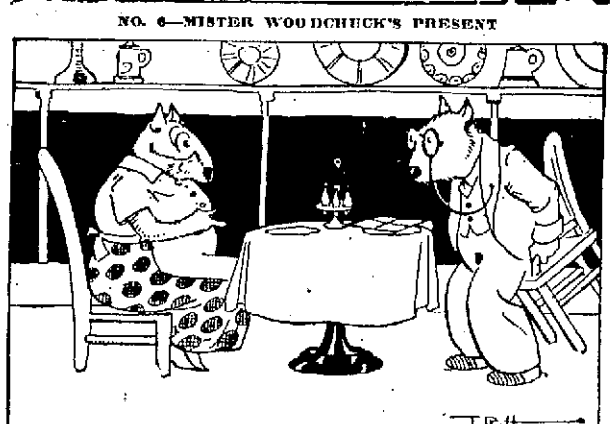

Looking down to the deck, Jack could see that the sailors were busy tightening sail ropes. He hurried down to see what this was being done for. "There's a blizzard coming up, sure as you're standing there," snapped one of the crew. So Jack jumped into the work and helped with the ropes.

Suddenly a voice shouted from the front of the boat. "Everybody below!" All of the sailors except the man at the steering wheel went down the little stairway that led to the cabins. Jack followed them. The wheelman bundled his collar up and stayed at the wheel. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

"I don't believe you're ever going to take my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck crossly to Nick. "Ever since I came here things have gone wrong." And at that minute, to make things worse, her hat slid down over her eyes, and Nancy had to fix her all over again.

But by and by she got settled and Nick said, "Now, look pleasant, please," and the camera went click, and the picture was taken and it was all over.

"I hope you didn't mind me looking on," said a voice just then, and looking around they saw Mrs. Cottontail.

"Why, Mrs. Cottontail, I didn't see you," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I didn't hear you come in at all!"

"Well, here I am," laughed Mrs. Cottontail. "I came to get my picture taken. You were so kind and so much I don't suppose you could hear anything but your own voices."

"It's to be a secret about my picture," said Mrs. Woodchuck. "I'm having it taken for a surprise for Wally's birthday tomorrow and he mustn't know a word about it. I know you won't tell."

"Not a word," Mrs. Woodchuck said. "I'll be as silent as—as—as anything."

ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF COLUMBUS' DIARY

MEXICO CITY, July 14.—The newspaper El Universal claims that Mexico holds the original manuscript of the diary of Christopher Columbus detailing the voyage for the discovery of America and terminating in the return voyage.

The newspaper states that when a storm overtook the ships near the Azores, Columbus hurriedly completed the diary and included two copies, one in a wooden box and the other in a wax casing, throwing them overboard. It was said that he feared a shipwreck was imminent and felt that the diary was the sole means of announcing his discovery of America to the world.

It is reported that the manuscript of the Columbus Diary was purchased by the present owner in Havana eight years ago and is now being studied by local authorities who do not doubt its authenticity.

According to El Universal, the manuscript was found 800 years after it was thrown into the water.

DAVIS TO SPEAK IN THE WEST

Democratic Nominee for President Hopes to Carry
Agricultural States

Holds Week-End Conferences
With Sen. Walsh and
Carl Vrooman

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., July 14.—John W. Davis hopes of carrying western agricultural states have increased as a result of week-end conferences with Senator Walsh of Montana, and Carl Vrooman of Bloomington, Ill., here.

Mr. Vrooman, who was an assistant secretary of agriculture under President Wilson, saw the democratic nominee at Locust Valley, his extensive estate there. It is understood that Mr. Vrooman, who farms large tracts in eastern Illinois, will be at Davis' side in the campaign. He will see several party leaders during the day at the home of Frank L. Polk, 8 East 68th street, his temporary headquarters in town, and it is expected he will announce soon his choice for national chairman.

Residents of Locust Valley are expecting that he will make Locust Valley his principal headquarters during the campaign, going to Clarkburg, W. Va., for the notification and for other brief stays.

Neighbors of Mr. Davis and traders, people and villagers in Locust Valley, mindful of the fame that came to Oyster Bay during Theodore Roosevelt campaigns from Sagamore Hill, hope that he will keep to his home here until next November. Sagamore Hill is less than a dozen miles from Locust Valley.

Mr. Davis passed a quiet Sunday, attending church and going for a horseback ride in the morning and receiving social callers and taking a dip in the sound in the afternoon. He played no golf.

Notification Ceremony

NEW YORK, July 14.—The ceremony of notifying John W. Davis officially of his nomination for the presidency by the democratic party will take place at Clarkburg, W. Va., it was learned today. Formal announcement of the arrangements for the event, which probably will take place within two weeks, is expected within the next few days.

Mr. Davis will deliver the address of acceptance, which will mark the opening of the democratic campaign, at the house where he lived as a boy in the town that has been the residence of his family for a century. The house is now occupied by his sister.

Mr. Davis said he was anxious to get the preliminaries out of the way as soon as possible, in view of the fact that the prolongation of the convention already had somewhat delayed the democratic appeal to the country for control of the government.

After two days of comparative rest at his country home in Locust Valley, L. I., Mr. Davis drove to New York this morning considerably refreshed and ready to plunge into the last of the preliminary work that must be done to set up the party organization. This he hopes to finish by Friday, and if he succeeds he will then go to Islesboro, Me., for a few days before returning to Clarkburg for the notification.

ALLOWED TIME TO MAKE RESTITUTION

Henry P. Andreoli was arraigned in district court this morning charged with the larceny of $1000 from his employer, Sam Scott, Middlesex street. The case was set for trial on the sixth day of the defendant's detention to make restitution.

Andreoli was arrested Saturday afternoon by Lt. Maher and Sergt. McLaughlin on a warrant sworn by Mr. Scott. He had been employed for many years as a salesman and collector and, according to the police, the larceny consisted of a number of small thefts which have been going on for a period of a year.

GIRLS' CITY CLUB

The main feature of the regular Monday evening dance parties of the Girls' city club will be a prize waltz in which it is expected many of Lowell's talented and well known dancers will participate. The dance committee, which is in charge of the regular Monday and Friday evening dances, voted to arrange for a prize dance tonight. The hostesses of the evening will be Mrs. James O'Donoghue and Mrs. Charles Holmes.

1500 Metre Swim for Men

change in the semi-finals and did not start.

Miss Helen Wainwright of the New York Women's Swimming association easily qualified for the final in the 1500 metre swim in the first semi-final. She defeated Edler, the star of the American women's team, and Miss Martha Norrell, her teammate, were easy qualifiers in the second heat.

Pete Des Jardines, Miami, Fla., Ben Traas, San Francisco and Clarence Pinkston, San Francisco, qualified for the final in the plain diving to the run off tomorrow. Clark and Wright of Sweden, Eric of Australia and Vincent of France, were the other six men to qualify along with the Americans.

The program of the second day's Olympic swimming competition at the municipal swimming pool, Les Tourelles, opened in blistering heat with 5000 spectators present. The program called for the semi-finals of the 1500 metre free style, the semi-finals in the women's 400 metre free style and three water polo matches—Holland vs. Switzerland, Ireland vs. Austria, Greece vs. Czechoslovakia, as well as the elimination trials in the high diving events.

Charlton, Arne Borg and Hatfield, the English man all made the distance in 21 minutes, 25 2-5 seconds, beating the former Olympic record of 22 minutes, established by Hodgson of Canada at Stockholm in 1912. The Australian and the Swede watched each other throughout the race, both keeping a safe distance ahead of the other competitors, satisfied to qualify. Charlton was 18 yards ahead of Borg, who was the same distance in front of Hatfield. Arne Smith of the United States found the pace too hot for him and was never in the race.

The result of the first semi-final was: 1500 metre swim, free style, three qualify for final: Tuesday: A. Charlton, Australia, first; Arne Borg, Sweden, second; Hatfield, Great Britain, third. Time 21 minutes, 25 2-5 seconds. Smith, United States, failed to qualify, finishing fourth.

400 metre swim, second semi-final: Miss Gertrude Edler, New York, first; Miss Martha Norrell, New York, second; Miss Tanner, Great Britain, third. Time, 6 minutes, 19 2-5 seconds.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

FOSTER ENDORSEMENT IS REPUDIATED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Action of the executive committee of the national farmer-labor party in endorsing W. Z. Foster for president was repudiated by the executive committee of the farmer-labor party in California here yesterday. The committee with 27 of its 33 members in attendance, pledged support of the California farmer-labor party organization to Senator La Follette and his program.

Resolutions adopted declared all representatives of the communists and the workers' party in California eliminated from the farmer-labor party organization and repudiated the acts of the national farmer-labor party in its convention in St. Paul, Minn., and subsequent acts by its executive committee.

The California organization will endeavor by petition to have names of its electors, pledged to La Follette, placed on the ballot and plans recourse to the courts in an effort to compel it, if necessary, according to George G. Kidwell, of San Francisco, chairman of the committee.

Mills Resume Old Schedules

week will be maintained for the present.

The Merrimack Manufacturing company, which shut down, according to the management's statement, for a period of ten days in order to make machinery adjustments, started up this morning on a four-day week.

Tremont & Suffolk mills started the week after a ten-day shutdown. Some departments are on a full week—others are running on two and three-day schedules for the present.

Most mills are operating on the usual curtailed schedules, with some departments running up to Saturday noon. This morning, all four floors and a part of the fifth floor in the big plant were noisy with the hum of machinery.

No Schedule Changes. Hamilton Manufacturing company continues on a three-day schedule. Traffic officers in an English city wear small red lanterns.

JANITOR'S MOUSTACHE SINGED OFF TRYING TO STOP FIRE IN SCHOOL

DANVERS, July 14.—The home-making department building of the Essex county agricultural school at Hathorne, was destroyed today by fire that started in the kitchen, presumably from an oil stove. It was discovered by Edwin Carter, janitor, who sounded the alarm, the Danvers department responding. Carter's moustache was singed off trying to stop the blaze at the start. Mrs. May Elliott, the housekeeper, was forced to flee from the building. The eaves of the boys' new dormitory in the rear caught fire, but were not very badly damaged. The school was not in session. The building is insured, loss estimated at $40,000.

MAYOR WILL ANNOUNCE RENT COMMISSION

The mayor is this week to announce the appointment of a municipal rent commission he stated today. This commission will be appointed in conformity with the recommendation to that effect made by the special committee of city councilors named to cooperate with the assessors. This committee reported to the city council May 31 last. Daniel F. Cogrove was chairman of the committee and the other members were John J. McPadden and Arthur Genest. The recommendations in part as taken from the committee report filed with the city clerk follow:

"The efforts of your committee are of necessity confined to suggestions that may be effective in restricting, at least, if not entirely eliminating, the practice of some landlords in taking unfair and unwarranted advantage of tenants by demanding unconscionable rents and upon refusal to obey ordering the tenants to vacate the premises.

"To alleviate this situation your committee would recommend that the city council request His Honor, the Mayor, to appoint a rent commission, composed of seven responsible citizens, preferably, a commission made up as follows:

"The City Engineer;
An Attorney-at-Law;
A Real Estate Dealer;
A representative of the Trades & Labor Council; and a woman of the city should also be represented on the commission.

"The duties of said commission upon appointment would be to organize under the authority of the chairman of the state commission on the necessities of life, by appointing a chairman and secretary, to familiarize themselves with the laws passed in 1923 and amendments thereto having to do with their powers, and to receive complaints. The secretary's duties, in addition to responsibilities as a member of the commission, would be to mail notices to landlord and tenant in case of complaint, requesting each to appear at a time appointed by the commission. The commission would then hear the facts of the controversy in each case, make a finding at once, provided all the facts are in its possession, otherwise as soon thereafter as the commission is in possession of the facts.

"Should the parties to the controversy be unwilling to abide by the decision of the commission an appeal may be taken to the district court."

DREXEL SLIGHTLY INJURED

NEW YORK, July 14.—John R. Drexel, Jr., member of the Drexel family, a Philadelphia, who was struck early today over the head by a falling canopy on Madison avenue, was said at a hospital to be only slightly injured. It was thought at first that he had suffered a fractured skull.

TENNIS SINGLES FOR WOMEN

Miss Scharman of U. S. Eliminated in Second Round by Spanish Star

In Men's Doubles Hunter and Richards Advance to Second Round by Default

PARIS, July 14. (By the Associated Press.)—Miss Lillian Scharman of the United States today was eliminated in the second round of the women's Olympic tennis singles by the young Spanish star, Senorita Alvarez whose fine forehand driving and stiff pace gave her a decisive victory by the score of 6-2, 6-0.

In the first round of the men's doubles the Torralva brothers of Chile defeated Roman and Luppu of Rumania, 7-5, 6-2, 6-3.

Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, America, advanced to the second round by the default of Mishu and Stern of Rumania.

R. Norris Williams II, had no difficulty in eliminating his first opponent, A. M. Hadji of India.

Mrs. Satterthwaite, the English player, on her first round match by default from an Italian entrant. She will meet Miss Helen Wills, the American woman champion tomorrow.

Miss Wills defeated Mrs. Satterthwaite in the semi-finals of the Wimbledon tournament rather easily by the score of 6-2, 6-1.

Despite the holiday there was an attendance of less than 3000 at the matches today. Only the most ardent followers of the game remained as the temperature was above 90 in the shade.

Mrs. Molla Mallory, representing Norway, defeated Mme. Vaussard, of France, 6-2, 6-2.

City Hall Briefs

9.10 o'clock. The radio will tune in at 3 o'clock and after a week of experimenting is expected to be better perfect.

The semi-annual statement of City Auditor Daniel E. Martin will be given out tomorrow in all probability. There is great interest in the report as many of the points expect that it will show that the streets and charities departments have been spending at too fast a clip for their respective appropriations.

Fire apparatus salesmen descended upon the hall today and told the mayor and all other officials who would listen about the merits of their respective machines.

Fire Chief Saunders and Councilor Hennessey, chairman of the public safety commission, were among those who spent Sunday on Cape Cod.

The mayor, the city engineer and the members of the board of public service left today for New York, where they will inspect a new type of auction street sweeper.

The mayor this morning signed the bonds issued to cover the $75,000 appropriation recently passed for the purchase of additional fire apparatus. The purchasing agent is expected to announce his awards about Wednesday. Bids on three triple combination pumping engines and one hook and ladder were opened last Friday.

Miss Mary Dowd has taken office space in the park department rooms and is handling the playground publicity work for the summer.

Patrick Cullinan, fireman in the city hall boiler room, and Mrs. Annie Donovan, matron, are on their vacations.

Fred Tompkins, member of the janitorial staff at city hall, is back on the job after a week's vacation.

There will be a meeting of the school committee at 7 o'clock Friday night.

Mayor Donovan is mourning the loss of his pet Alradale, "Timber." "Tim" was a big fellow only fifteen months' old and there is a suspicion that his end was hastened.

Joseph McGrath continues a hold-over on the license board and his re-nomination will not go down tomorrow night, it was said today by one who should know. It is said the mayor intends to reappoint Mr. McGrath but is waiting for the council to act on the Dinneen-Rourke and Pearson-Landers nominations. Mr. Landers was nominated over a month ago to succeed Fisher Pearson to the board of health, but the council has kept the nomination on the table.

Some of the political sharps say that of the 15 votes in the council, the two nominees, Messrs. Dinneen and Landers, have but five promised votes each.

FEAR MISSING U. S. OFFICER SLAIN

Authorities Searching for the Body of Maj. McLeary, Missing Army Officer

Auto, Abandoned and Containing Blood-Stained Army Cap Found Saturday

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 14.—Fear- ing that Major Samuel H. McLeary, missing United States coast artillery officer, has been killed, civil and military authorities set out early today on a search for his body in the woods and streams in the vicinity of Canton, N. C., where his automobile, abandoned and containing a blood-stained army cap and other effects, was found Saturday near a farm.

Major McLeary passed through Raleigh July 2 en route in his automobile from Norfolk, Va., to Fort Moultrie, S. C., where he was expected July 4. His car was abandoned July 2 in a lonely section of mountainous road but the owner of the farm nearby failed to notify the authorities, it is said, until Saturday.

Major McLeary, Gov. Nott of the missing officer's native state had asked Gov. Morrison of North Carolina, to institute a search for him and the war department has taken similar action. Chief H. A. Summer of the Canton police, who was the first informed of the finding of the major's automobile, said he had been informed that the car entered that section with two men on the front seat and one in the rear, but came down the mountain with only two passengers. Canton is several hundred miles off the regular route from Raleigh to Columbia, S. C., his next stop.

LOWELL BOY SCOUTS SUMMER CAMP NAMED

The official name of the Lowell Boy Scouts summer camp has been chosen. From now on the camp will be known as "Camp Faulkner" in honor of Scout Commissioner Luther W. Faulkner, organizer of the scout movement in Lowell, scout master for five years and commissioner for the past seven. Sunday morning, the Catholic scouts attended mass at Nashua in a body, while services were held in camp for the other scouts. Many parents attended the camp yesterday, including Deputy Scout Commissioner Alfred E. Thurston, Dr. John H. Lambert, president of the Lowell Scout council, and the other members of the council: Charles A. Homer, Percy A. Smith and Everett F. Gray. In the evening, a camp fire was held and selections were rendered by the camp jazz band. There were harmonica solos by Frank Homer and the camp cook and cornet solos by Mr. Edwin Meilen, scout executive, and Scout Richard Lambert.

The first edition of the camp paper, "The Faulkner Daily News," will be issued today. The staff of the paper consists of boys at camp. Copies will be mailed to the parents of the scouts in camp.

Three new scouts entered camp Saturday and two more this morning. Eight scouts and the assistant scoutmaster of troop 10 came to Lowell this morning, to attend the funeral of Scout Robert McBride, who died Saturday.

The scouts are building a boat dock and a corduroy road. Parents and friends of the scouts are requested to refrain from sending food or candy to the boys while in camp. Any such "counterband" will be subject to seizure and general distribution through the commissary department.

Parents and relatives are reminded that Thursday afternoon and Sunday are visiting days and any who visit camp on other than the appointed days will run the risk of not seeing the scouts, as no boy will be released from duty under any consideration.

The full address of the camp is as follows: Camp Faulkner, B.S.A., R.F.D. No. 1, Derry, N. H.

To reach the camp by automobile go direct to Nashua, turn to right at first traffic beacon, swing to right after crossing bridge into Hudson, take next left fork and follow arrows to camp.
